THE CAUSE OF CHILDREN

Mrs. Blaker Next Fall Begins Twenty-fifth Year of Her Kindergarten Work—Her Summer School.

Mrs. Eliza A. Blaker, associate principal of the Winona Summer Schools and superintendent of the free kindergarten and domestic science training school at Indianapolis, will next September begin her twenty-fifth year of work in the cause of children in the Hooiser capital. The anniversary year may not be marked by the peal of silver bells, but thousands of young and grown-up children who have through all these years come under this gentlewoman's influence will hear with satisfaction some of the many things she has done. If one will go into the districts of the poor along Pearl street, in the neighborhoods of the Kingan packing house, among the little negro orphans in the home near the Indianapolis city hospital, they will find many thousand children who know Mrs. Blaker and who call to her whenever she goes their way.

Mrs. Blaker started the free kindergarten movement in Indianapolis and for many years she has had the continuous support of men and women of means in her work. She is not in immediate contact with the little folks as she used to be, but now gives most of her energy to training teachers to teach the young. During the time she has been in the Indianapolis kindergarten work, the movement has made immeasurable headway along the lines of educating children, and school houses and the Jackson Memorial building and other property are some of the visible fruits of this wonderful woman's work. Forty-seven schools will open under Mrs. Blaker's direction this fall and a total of 10,000 Indianapolis children will be in attendance.

Mrs. Blaker is doing the same kind of work in the summer schools at Winona Lake that she has been doing for years in Indianapolis—training teachers to teach the children. Through her department here she is spreading her ideas and influence to the graded schools of Indiana, and a number of her students are from the schools of Illinois. Hers is in point of enrollment the largest department of the Winona schools, and at 8:30 every morning, when 150 young women gather to hear Mrs. Blaker lecture, her big room in Mount Memorial looks as if a high school might be in session.

At the morning convocation, Mrs. Blaker is impressing upon the young school teachers that they are following a high profession, and she also impresses them with the fact that grave responsibility rests upon them in their school work, that they must meet conditions with a self-sacrificing spirit. Mrs. Blaker believes the teacher who loses her temper can do a great deal of damage in a school room. If she could have her way in the schools of this country, she said, she would turn out every teacher who raises hand or rod against a child. She is teaching the young teachers in the schools here that the way to keep children in school and hold their interest, is to keep the youngsters busy at something they like to do.

After the convocation ends, the 150 students, on account of the size of the enrollment, are divided into sections and the young women become children again for a few hours, doing the work that they will next winter have the small children in their schools do. Fifty or more of Mrs. Blaker's scholars gather about large tables in an airy room and under the direction of Miss Winifred Dean learn how to

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETING

Mrs. Blaker Gave Inspiring Talk on
Source of Education—Other Speakers Heard.

With black-eyed Susans, golden rod and fragrant greens covering the walls and banking tables, the Bible School hall was a bower of coolness and beauty yesterday when the Woman's Club held its weekly meeting.

Miss Merica Hoagland, president of the club, presided, and told of the necessity of study such as the Woman's Club was attempting.

Mrs. Eliza Blaker gave one of the most inspiring talks ever heard in the club. Mrs. Blaker said the home is the source of education. The child in the home enters into a threefold relation, that of nature, man and God. Teachers and parents are responsible for both physical and intellectual development of the child. The conversation of the father and mother has a strong influence in the training of the child, she said. The older the child, the more implicit should be its faith in father and mother. The child must be led to God by the things it sees about it. Implicit faith in God is easy to develop if it begins in a simple way. No one can form a child's character—it forms its own. Teach the child the sacredness of promise. One must be in the deepest sympathy with child life to lead the child aright. The home is the greatest force in civilization.

Dr. H. A. Gobin, of DePauw University, gave an interesting talk on "Higher Education." He dwelt on the motives for higher education and the necessity of inspiring the boy in the right direction. There are ways to appeal to the boy's idea of helpfulness, and to teach him that his life is to count in the transformation of this world to usefulness and righteousness, Dr. Gobin said. A spirited discussion of the talks followed.

Miss Hoagland spoke of the necessity of the Woman's Club taking some active steps to prepare for the meeting of the Union of Literary Clubs at Winona in October.

At the suggestion of Mrs. P. E. Zartmann greetings were sent to Mrs. Clark, an old and valued member of the club, who is ill in Chicago.

Miss Hoagland announced a series of lectures to be given by Mrs. Sanborn, of Chicago, on cooking by electricity. These lectures will be given in The Inn chapel.

"Shepherd's Dance" and "Anetras Dance" were played by Mrs. Ralph Yarnelle, who played with such expression that her hearers gave enthusiastic encores.

Mrs. James Frazer, of Warsaw, who has a beautiful soprano voice, sang "Summer," by Chaminade.

Delicious country lemonade was served in country style by the hostesses, Mesdames Lee, Besserer, Dickey, Chapman, Widaman and Kane.

TWO BOOKS COMPARED.

Book of Genesis Was Chief Topic of Dr. White.

At the 11 o'clock Bible hour of yesterday Dr. White continued his study of the book of Genesis.

Isaiah 45:18 was compared with Genesis 1:1-2 and Dr. White showed plainly that it was God's purpose that man should inhabit the world. Selections read from a standard geology helped to emphasize Dr. White's thought.

Unity, progress, incompleteness and reach are four of the characteristics of the book of Genesis. Its unity is proved by the reference ten different times to generations. Genesis 2 is not a repetition of Genesis 1, but rather a supplement, and from this second chapter Eden grows. Who ever the writer of Genesis may be he was under the dominance of God and understood how best to arrange his material and leave out the things that do not fit.

Dr. White made an interesting diagram showing how Genesis 1-3 is the thought, "Sin in," and in Revelation "Sin out." In Genesis, "Heaven and earth," in Revelation "New heaven and new earth." Between these two points of Genesis and Revelation is the history of redemption.

The man who wrote Genesis might have been Moses or some man writing as late as the Babylonian captivity. The history of this Jewish nation goes back in the uplands of human history.

The unity of God and the uniqueness of Israel run through the Old Testament. With this idea of unity of God the Jews had the idea of racial connection with all other nations and religious segregation.

There are six prominent names found in Genesis—Adam, Noah, Moses, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. There are two general divisions of Genesis. Genesis 1-11 treats of the race as a whole. The second division is Abraham and his posterity. Through it all God is hunting man. He comes from race to nation and he does this that He may save the race. In Jesus was found the perfect servant and through Him God could propagate His kind. The lines now widen until all nations are embraced in God's love.

Tomorrow Dr. White will speak again from the book of Genesis with special reference to the doctrine of God.

SALE OF RESERVED SEATS

Lively Demand for Season Tickets to the Thomas Concerts—Two More Sales.

Season reserved seats for the Theodore Thomas Orchestra concerts sold like popcorn at a county fair when they were placed on sale at the Administration building yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. For two hours an unbroken line of people moved by the place of sale and when the rush was finally over, several hundred sets of seats for the six night concerts had been disposed of. But the supply is not yet exhausted—not even the supply of choice seats. Only about 700 reserved seat tickets are to be sold for the night programs, leaving perhaps 2,000 unreserved. Buyers of season tickets yesterday received for their money slips calling for the coupons to the seats. The slips will be presented at the auditorium on the nights of the concert. A clerk will be on duty there whose whole attention will be given to handing out the coupons which the slips call for. He will have the coupons numbered, the number corresponding to one on the ticket, and he will have the coupons filed in numerical order, so that he may wait upon a large number of people in a short time and without confusion.

The coupons which he has unclaimed at the end of the first number given by the orchestra may be sold to any purchaser who may desire the seats, under the impression that the original holder of the slip will not attend that concert.

The signs are that another long line of people will be at the Administration building this morning when reserved seats for single concerts go on sale. These seats will be sold for night concerts. These tickets will be twenty-five cents each, while seats for six night concerts cost $1.

A third sale of seats will begin on Friday morning. This will be for reserved seats for afternoon concerts. These seats, too, will be 25 cents each.

DR. MACARTHUR'S LECTURE.

Noted Baptist Pulpit Orator Spoke on the Empire of the Czar.

Dr. Robert S. McArthur, of Brooklyn, gave his great address, "Russia," last evening to a crowded auditorium. Dr. MacArthur paid Winona a great compliment by saying that he had visited forty different Chautauquas during his summer vacation, and not one of these, not even excepting the mother Chautauqua, has the outlook, the intellectual character and evidences of progress that one finds at Winona.

In his timely lecture on "Russia" Dr. MacArthur dwelt upon the size of Siberia, it having an area of 5,000,000 square miles. Yet Siberia is but one-half the area of Russia. There never was an empire like Russia in that it covers so much land that is in one solid block.

The birth rate in Russia is high, the death rate low, and yet Russia is sparsely populated. Dr. MacArthur paid a tribute to the Russian soldier and contrasted him in originality with the Japanese soldier. With the Russian officer dead the soldiers under his command would be like sheep without a leader, while if every Japanese officer in the army was killed the next morning would find many brave little Japs capable of leadership.

The world's master, in Dr. MacArthur's opinion, will be the Anglo-Saxon or the Slav. Under the Anglo-Saxon, Dr. MacArthur included all who speak the English tongue, and he is inclined to the belief that this master is to be the Anglo-Saxon.

Dr. MacArthur reviewed the early history of Russia, emphasizing the founding of the Russian empire in 1662 by a Swede. The word Russia is a Sweddish word meaning boatman.

No musical instrument of any kind is used in the Russian church, just the music of the human voice. For magnificence and dignity of ceremony the Russian church is not surpassed by even the gorgeous ceremonies of the Vatican.

It is the Tartar blood in the Russian that urges him on in his cruel persecution of the Jew, and no nation, in Dr. MacArthur's opinion, can prosper and have God's care who abuse God's chosen people, the Jews.

Richard Harding Davis gave an account of the coronation of the Czar that Dr. MacArthur quoted in his statements regarding the placing of the crown by the Czar on his own head. This is a symbol of the power that Russia hopes to have.

Mrs. Saunders as a Story-Teller.

Gilbert Parker's "The Lane That Had No Turning," a short story of the old French-Canadian days, was recited at the auditorium yesterday afternoon by Nellie Peck Saunders. It is a graphic story of the aristocrats of old Pontiac, in which a lost will, the title to an old manor, a Frenchman's honor and a wife's devotion all had a part. It abounds in the dramatic emotion which marked the French who held the provinces in Canada, and Mrs. Saunders was especially impressive as she portrayed the devoted wife, who found the lost will which took from her husband his title and estate, and Mrs. Saunders showed her talent as an elocutionist as the wife made an impassioned appeal to the man to whom the empty title fell.

The efforts of Mrs. Saunders were skillfully blended with the interest of the story and the action of the plot, in which there was not a glint of humor, and a thousand or more people who were in the audience gave her an encore, when she responded with a humorous sketch entitled "Mindy."

EDUCATION FOR THE BOYS

Subject Discussed by Prof. Moore, of Marion, at the Summer School Convocation.

Prof. B. F. Moore, superintendent of the Marion High school, delivered a very interesting address at the convocation exercises yesterday afternoon, speaking to the subject, "The Education I Desire for My Boy." Prof. Moore is president of the Indiana Teachers' Association and also connected with the commission appointed by Gov. Hanly for increasing the salaries of teachers. He discussed his theme along the line of the all around, developed and educated American boy.

Prof. Moore said in part:

"It is from the standpoint of the parent, rather than from that of the teacher, that we discuss this subject. We concede that a concise study, based to any great degree upon the opinions of parents as to what should be taught in the schools would have considerable of the Joseph's coat appearance. We maintain, however, that the parent has some responsibility in the matter; that there are certain things connected with the formation of a course of study for the determination of which the expert must look to the parent; that the parent's part is often much larger than he suspects. If the public schools are the people's school, the patron has the right to say what shall be taught."

Not only was the boys' education alone taken into account, but the girls' interests were made similar to those characters to be desired in young men.

"We desire our youth to have a sound physical education. That the young man's physical development shall be such as to insure him a solid foundation for the higher development, namely, the mental.

"We want our boy to be an athlete, to be as much of a perfect specimen of sturdy manhood as it is possible for him to be. Yet, after all, not to carry his physical development to such an extent as to eliminate his mental activity. We want him to be a great reader, a great thinker, but added to this, we want him to be able to put this ability to some use, to be able to convince men of the justice of his conviction and to win them to co-operation. Let it not be said that his mental and physical development have absorbed all his ambition, but let him strive for the higher and more ennobling, the moral and religious. In short, to be a manly man. Teach him reverence for parents, for duty and things religious. Teach him to have reverence for the highest things."

PAINTINGS OF CHRIST

Ten Life Size Pictures Will Be Shown at Daguerre Building Beginning Saturday.

Ten life size oil paintings of Christ will go on exhibition at the Daguerre Memorial building at Winona Lake, on Saturday morning, to remain for an indefinite time. The general title of the exhibit is "Conceptions of Christ," but each picture is by a different artist and shows his personal ideas of the Christ. The pictures are by American artists, Frederick A. Lamb, Charles C. Curron, Frank Vincent DuMond, John LaFarge, George Hitchcock, Joseph Lauber, Kenyon Cox, William H. Crane and W. H. Lowe. The paintings are the originals.

The collection cost $48,000 and is being sent over the country by a number of men of means. The purpose of the tour is to interest Americans in American art and to show them that the artists of this country rank with those of any land on the globe. The collection was shown in New York for eight weeks during the last art season. It held the attention of Cleveland people for five weeks and was sent to Winona Lake from Sandusky, Ohio, where the pictures were exhibited for ten days.

One of the paintings, by Joseph Lauber, is reproduced in The Review. This picture represents the figure of Christ on a hill-top illuminated by the rays of the late afternoon sun. It is clothed in a creamy white garment and dull red mantle; a light cloth covering the head, through which the sunlight illumines the features. The landscape background is in autumnal tints, with large rolling clouds and a patch of clear sky overhead, indicative of His stormy career, the whole effect being of a figure illuminated by a chance burst of sunlight through the rift of clouds on a gloomy day. The head is the artist's individual conception of the Christ, only the long hair and short beard being retained so as to make the character in keeping with tradition.

THE CAUSE OF CHILDREN.

whittle. Miss Flora Torrence teaches them how to weave baskets and mats. Miss Charlotte Gardner teaches them child study and methods. The instructor in public school sewing is Miss Pearl Armstrong. Mrs. Blaker has with her here a number of other teachers from her training school at Indianapolis.

These teachers from the schools of Indiana are learning how to teach many things that were twenty years ago unknown in the graded schools of the state. They are learning how to illustrate "Hiawatha," cutting out wigwams, canoes and other articles suggestive of Indian life, making them of paper and coloring them with chalk. They are using kindergarten blocks to build houses, and doing a hundred and one things that a child delights in doing. In fact, a child who finds in its school room ideas of the Blaker brand, also finds that going to school is a genuine joy, that it is going to play rather than to work.

Mrs. Blaker has been urged by a number of her Indianapolis friends to drop her school work. "I could never do it," she said. "I should become entirely lost should I try to leave the schools. I find my interest in them increases, and I would not know what to do with idle time."

Mrs. Blaker hopes to continue at the head of the kindergarten training schools at Indianapolis for many years. One of the projects she has in mind is the erection of spacious dormitories near the Jackson Memorial building for the use of her students, and she has a number of plans in mind for bringing this about.

CONVENTION OF AGENTS.

Indiana Fire Insurance Men Elect
New Officers.

The Indiana agents of the Ohio Farmers' Insurance Company, who have been in convention at Winona since Monday, held their last meeting at Winona Hotel on yesterday morning.

M. L. Pierce, of Valparaiso, the retiring president, made some interesting remarks and the following officers were elected for next year:

L. F. Coleman, Warsaw, president; John L. Sage, Rockville, vice president; H. H. Wordsmall, Indianapolis, re-elected secretary and treasurer.

A resolution was passed protesting against the increase of rates in Indiana.

About 150 agents were in attendance, mostly from Indiana. This was the twelfth annual meeting of the Ohio Farmers' and the eighth time the convention has been held at Winona. It is the wish of the president and agents that Winona be the permanent meeting place. The old-time banquet, which for years was a feature of the convention, is no longer given. The agents have substituted "the feast of reason and flow of soul" that is everywhere at Winona.

Piano Bargains.

Thirty pianos now in use by the Winona Summer Schools will be sold at a big sacrifice, the sale to begin August 18. These instruments are all new and in good, first-class condition. Parties interested should see G. V. Roscoe, of Rogers' Band, or write Rogers & Wilson, Goshen, Ind.

Remember the sale of men's fine suits this week. All suits in the house which are priced up to $14 will go at $10. Saturday July 28, will be the last day for the sale. The Globe.

A NEW MAN IN THE BOX

Four New Faces on Winona Team—

Columbia City Won the Game—

Other Athletic News.

Winona had four new faces on the team yesterday and only two of the remaining five were in their regular positions and then Columbia City won by only a single score. The new box artist was the goods, and should have won his first game easily, but errors of omission more than errors of commission proved too much for his pitching, especially as the new line up lacked team work. He was also handicapped by the fact that the "enemy" were his old team mates and also that he had not been on the slab since the Fourth. He will undoubtedly pitch Winona to victory often this season, and, if his batting streak keeps up, he will show up some of the league pitchers. His brother played the initial sack in good form and Coffman handled several hard chances at second without an error. Drucky distinguished himself in the sixth by knocking down Geisler's drive, which looked good for a hit, and catching the runner at first.

It was a game of excitement for the rooter. Winona took the lead in the first and kept it till the seventh, when Columbia City forged ahead and stayed there one inning. Three runs in the ninth for the visitors clinched matters and the "Little Red Men" could not bat Stieman hard enough to run in the extra tally.

The Grays landed on the ball hard, but would not have run up such a score if the outfield had covered all the ground that Sunday and Diddel would have cared for. Thomas had a day's work to look after and took care of everything that came within reach, although he found it quite different judging a line drive from the high flies that come to the pitcher. For the visitors, Anderson and Adams starred in the field and the latter made the first home run of the season when his long drive to left lost itself in the tall grass by the track, and he completed the circuit of the bases before Thomas found it. The score:

The Winona team will be in much better shape this afternoon than it was yesterday and a good game is assured. The time was changed from 3 o'clock to 2:30 on account of the Goshen excursion. The game will be over in time to attend the elephant show.

MARY HAS ACTIVE MIND

Trained Elephant Follows Eph Thompson's Commands When She Is

Not in the Ring.

Ask any of the small boys who have been haunting Eph Thompson's elephant quarters since they have been in Winona Park, and they will bear out the big negro's assertions that the animals understand what he says to them. Thompson has proved it to the youngsters time and again. They have heard him tell Mary, the elephant that turns a somersault, to pick up his coat from a chair or from the ground, and she promptly obeyed him. He tells her to wrap her ugly trunk about his neck and she does it.

He can ask her to get a boxing glove, which is used by the elephants in one of their acts, and she picks it up in her trunk and takes it to him. She obeys all of these little commands when she is in her shed and when thought of a performance before a crowd is out of mind.

If Thompson should tell the Winona Park boys that Mary could read a newspaper, they have seen the animal do so many uncommon things that they would be inclined to believe it.

Eph Thompson began the life of a showman as a helper at a meager day wage and it is doubtful if he has an equal as a trainer of elephants. He has always refused to take his herd about the country with a circus. Through the winter he performs in theaters, and through the summer in parks and at resorts. The feats of the elephants appeal particularly to children and hundreds of youngsters have seen the four beasts during the engagement at Winona Lake. The elephants will continue to give afternoon and night performances through next Saturday.

What To Eat and When to Eat

Two Important Questions Answered Easily After Reading This.

Every nutritive element of the best white wheat grown is found in Malta-Vita. This famous food is the whole of the wheat thoroughly steamed and cooked in absolute purity and mixed with the finest malt extract that was ever made, thus it is the richest, strongest food in the world. You understand, of course, that the cooking and steaming of the wheat gelatinizes its starch, and then the malt extract, a powerful digestive agent, quickly converts this starch into maltose, or malt sugar. Maltose is great food, and the weakest stomach digests and assimilates it without effort.

We all know that for many years physicians of high standing in their profession have prescribed malt extracts, which contain a large percentage of maltose. Malta-Vita, the crisp, delicious whole-wheat food, contains from eight to ten per cent of maltose.

When Malta-Vita comes from the ovens, it is the crispest, most delicious food in the world, containing only one per cent of moisture. The other 99 per cent is food—brain and bone and nerve and muscle food—and most easily digested.

Malta-Vita is always fresh and crisp, and ready to eat. Delicious, refreshing, invigorating. No other food like it. All grocers, now 10 cents.
