THE STORY OF CREATION

Large Audience Heard Discussion by
Dr. R. W. Rogers at the Bible
Hour Yesterday.

Every seat in the Bible School Hall was taken and a hundred or more stood at the 11 o'clock Bible hour of yesterday to hear Dr. Robert W. Rogers, of the Drew Theological Seminary tell "The Story of Creation."

Dr. Rogers said that no one can understand an old civilization who does not understand the history of that civilization. What is true of history is true of politics. The same is true of this wonderful world. One must know something of its begetting to understand it aright.

Every generation must fight its own way through to clearness of thought and every man who thinks must fight his way afresh to a clear space upon which he is to stand.

There has been much light poured on the book of Genesis, Dr. Rogers said. The account of creation has been defended and attacked by those who expect to find in the Genesis story an account that can be reconciled with the scientific statements of today. The Old Testament is not a scientific book. It would have been possible for God to have written an account of creation that would have accorded with scientific study, but with what age must the story have been in harmony. Those before the time could not have understood the wonderful story of creation. It would have been a mere juggle of words.

It is, said Dr. Rogers, the peculiar and inalienable right of the century to scoff at the century that preceded it, so if this story had been written for any special age, we of today would scoff at it. One can reconcile the book of Genesis all one likes with modern science, but it won't stay reconciled, said Dr. Rogers. It is not the business of the book of Genesis to dovetail into anyone's idea of creation. It is the mission of the Bible to reveal God to man. The beginnings of things interest all men. The whole ancient world was puzzled by this earth and tried to work out an account of creation. Dr. Rogers compared other stories of creation with the Genesis story.

The Egyptians were so far above the children of Israel in civilization

BRAHM VAN DEN BERG,

that there is no comparison of the two. The children of Israel received all their civilization second-hand from the Egyptians, Babylonians, and Assyrians. The Egyptians had native ability and tried hard to unravel the mystery of the universe.

Dr. Rogers related several accounts that were interesting of the Egyptian idea of creation. One was that the god Nit wove the world; another that the god of the Nile gathered up mud and fashioned a human being. Still another, that the god Libu and goddess Niut were joined in love and the god Slue separated them. The goddess was lifted high and her body forms the starry heavens. The god Slue formed the earth, and as he twisted his body in anguish at being separated from the goddess, the hills and mountains were formed by these writhings of the muscles.

Dr. Rogers spoke of the Babylonian civilization being older than that of the Egyptians. People from Babylonia settled Assyria, but these two nations differed widely. The Babylonians were the Greeks of the ancient people, while the Assyrians were the Romans.

Dr. Rogers has been a close student since 1883 of these old tablets and inscriptions. He read a most interesting account, gathered by himself, from the old Assyrian tablets, of the Assyrian story of creation. This story was one of the god Apsu and the sea monster Tiamat and the god Marduk, often mentioned in the Old Testament. This god Marduk kills Tiamat and creates man to worship the gods.

Tomorrow Dr. Rogers will tell the story of the flood.

Sunday School Attendance.

Despite the rain of Sunday morning, the Sunday School showed an enrollment of 1,092, with $31.68 collection. The new Raikes Sunday School auditorium will be ready for occupancy by Friday.

THE FESTIVAL BEGINS

Thomas Orchestra Played to Two Great Audiences at Winona—
Thousands of Visitors.

Two large and enthusiastic audiences heard the concerts of the Theodore Thomas Orchestra at the Winona auditorium yesterday afternoon and evening. The music lovers from the centers of culture in Indiana and adjoining states who are at Winona Lake are numbered by the thousands, and many of them are looking upon the beauties of this summer retreat for the first time. The crowd for the season of the year is the largest that has ever been at Winona Lake for the Assembly programs, although the number has probably been larger on special excursion days. Indianapolis, Anderson, Marion, Wabash, South Bend, Fort Wayne and other cities are represented by numbers amounting to delegations, and they are but forerunners of those who are expected during the week. Every hotel, boarding house and cottage on Winona Park is well supplied with guests.

That more are coming is evident, for the five eminent soloists who are to be an additional attraction for music festival week begin their numbers on the program with Brahm Van den Berg, the Belgian pianist, who will play tonight. Mrs. Josephine Bremmerman Edmunds, of Indianapolis, who sings with the orchestra on three afternoons, came last evening that she might hear all of the Thomas programs, and she will spend two weeks at the lake.

The orchestra was late in beginning the concert yesterday afternoon, owing to a delay in getting possession of its baggage after arriving at the Park, but this did not discourage the three or four thousand people who awaited the signal from Frederick Stock, conductor of the organization, to begin the festival of music.

Last night the auditorium was crowded with people. They began pouring into the building as soon as the sun went down. They filled its seats, and several hundred found places outside the open windows. Several hundred more made themselves comfortable under the trees and within hearing distance. There was a rush for reserved seats as soon as the

The Orchestra and Its Music

By E. J. Fluegel, of Purdue University

There are not many things which the Winona Assembly has undertaken in recent years that deserves greater praise and is more apt to help place music lovers now at Winona Lake on a higher level than the bringing before a Winona audience such a musical organization as the orchestra named after its founder and famous leader, Theodore Thomas. It would seem like carrying owls to Athens to attempt to say anything in praise of this premier orchestra or to dwell upon its importance. Everyone knows that it has always stood, and is standing now, under Mr. Thomas' successor, Mr. Frederick Stock, for the highest there is in music, for the interpretation of such compositions as tell of spring and love, of blissful golden time, of men's worth, faith and sacredness, that tells of the all-beautiful that uplifts the human heart; tells of all that is sublime that thrills the human breast. This is not necessarily "classical" music. In fact, when looking over the twelve programs which the orchestra is giving at Winona one cannot help seeing that the selections, with a slight sprinkling of classics, are all of a lighter vein, most of the compositions being by men of the second half of the last century, dependent more or less upon the romantic movement in music.

At the afternoon concert Mr. Stock was greeted most heartily, and it was a revelation to hear his musicians playing like one man, giving expression, inspired by their leader, to the tenderest as well as the most powerful thoughts and emotions.

A very fitting beginning was made by Weber's overture "Jubilee," a piece which was written by the father of the romantic school, who conducted the German opera at Dresden in 1816. It appeals to an American audience as strongly as to a German one. As a tribute to the greatest composer of Germany, the larghetto from the second symphony in D major, by Beethoven, was rendered most beautifully. The variations of the theme through the various instruments was productive of the greatest musical delight. So was the wonderful and delicate Allegretto Scherzando from the first symphony of Svendsen, the Norwegian composer. The precision with which the instruments rendered this idyl in music was remarkable and the delicacy was charming.

With No. 4 on the program, Leo Delibes, a French composer, was introduced with one of his best creations, "Sylvia," a ballet written in 1876, and frequently performed on European stages. Voices from the woods, signals for the night stresses, pause and succeed and intermingle with each other, until Bacchus arrives and the whole is brought to a climax.

Another French composer received the most artistic treatment at the hands of these players, Massenet whose melodious overture "Phedre," was played masterfully. A serenade for stringed orchestra, Opus 48, by a Russian composer of the same period, Tschalkowsky, was delicately rendered in its first part, while the second was a model of a beautiful waltz beautifully played. In the closing number, Franz Liszt, who is more widely known by his compositions for the piano and his own genial playing of this instrument, was heard in one of his symphonic poems, "Les Preludes." Powerful ensembles, followed by passages in which individual instruments took the lead, accompanied by the violins, proclaimed the closing act a mighty triumphal song.

Those who have an understanding of good music are eagerly awaiting the following programs of the orchestra. Those whose musical taste goes into a different direction should think of this as a chance to correct their shortcoming and try to the best of their ability to understand the beauty of the compositions rendered and the rendering itself.

Leather and Metal Work.

The arts and crafts movement that is sweeping the country is establishing a strong center in the Winona Summer Schools. Few people understand the importance of the arts and crafts. The methods of work are very simple, and the finished work represents that of primitive art.

There are many opportunities for the student to work out his own personality in this line. The tooled, modeled and illuminated leather work that is being done by Mrs. Grace Pebble's department of the summer school shows some beautiful and useful articles. Some of them are magazine and book covers, card cases, opera bags, blotter pads and table covers.

In the metal department, brass and copper is used; this is etched, hammered and pierced. Shades of all sorts, card trays, paper knives, candlesticks and book and letter racks are some of the results of the pupils' efforts.

Mrs. Pebbles also teaches her classes to set stones in fobs, belt buckles and fancy pins, which they learn to make in class. It is surprising how inexpensive these useful beauties of the arts and crafts department are. A number of the Park women, who have a few weeks of leisure time, are spending it in making articles in this department for Christmas presents. The class hours are from 8 to 12 a. m.

BASEBALL RESULTS.

Warsaw Took Game From Leesburg Without Much Effort.

Interurban League Standing.

Goshen	4	4	500

Leesburg lost to Warsaw in a very loosely played game yesterday by a score of 18 to 6. Each team used three pitchers, Warsaw trying Hunter and West after they had secured enough lead to make them safe. Leesburg showed no signs of the fast ball they played Saturday, but went up in the air in the first inning and stayed there a good part of the game. They have been together only six days, however, and will make a better showing as they have some good ball players in the aggregation.

Score by innings:

Warsaw.. 4 5 3 0 0 2 3 1 x—18 18 7
Leesburg.. 3 0 0 0 0 2 1 0 0—6 6 8

Batteries—Hankins, Hunter, West and Cox; F. Hall, Glant, H. Zimmerman and C. Hall.

The other league game at New Paris resulted in an 8 to 1 score in favor of Goshen.

Batting Averages.

Drucky heads the regulars who have played in the majority of the games. Three men are above him, but they have not played in more than five of the eleven games of the season. Elliott is second of the regulars. The list of all who have played more than once is given below.

Enyert, of Warsaw, also played two games with the Winona team, batting 454 and fielding 833.

Accident to Warsaw Player.

The Winona fans will be sorry to hear of the accident to Frank Snyder, the Warsaw second baseman. He is in the railroad mail service and yesterday while on duty on the fast mail was struck by the open door of a freight car and very badly injured. Both arms were broken and it is probable that he will lose one of them. He is well known at Winona as he has played several times on the Winona team in past years.

Baseball Today.

The Winona team goes to Milford this afternoon, leaving Warsaw at 1:20. Bridge and R. Scott will be in the points. The "Little Red Men" will do everything possible to win this game as a victory will take them into second place.

Tennis Medal Tournament.

The tennis medal tournament which will begin on Thursday of next week is open to all amateurs. Those on the Park who have friends who play are asked to send them invitations to enter the tournament. The prizes will be gold and silver medals, which are on exhibition at the Winona book store. The entry fee in singles is 50c, and in doubles 75c for each team. Entries will be taken at the Administration building from 1 to 1:15 p. m. Thursday.

afternoon concert closed and it was unceasing until the program of the evening began. The sale of reserved seats will continue at the Administration building today, and much of the difficulty of getting seats at the auditorium may be avoided.

The audience of the afternoon found that in Mr. Stock they have a musical director who is not to be trifled with. He stopped the music while some of the audience was moving about and causing confusion and waited until all was quiet again. He made it clear to the audience that he will not have the orchestra disturbed during its playing and that he will protect the music lovers who want to hear the musicians. During the rest of the week disturbances in the auditorium will not be tolerated. People will not be permitted to leave their seats during a number and no one will be permitted to enter the building.

The week is as unusual for the Thomas Orchestra as it is for the regular visitors at Winona. This is the first time in the history of regular symphony orchestras in this country that one of them has played for a Chautauqua assembly.

Preached at Warsaw Sunday.

Bishop Galloway preached at Warsaw on Sunday evening at a union service of all the churches of Warsaw. He gave some interesting figures in regard to the growth of the Methodist Episcopal church South. At the close of the war in 1865 the church numbered 400,000. It now has a membership of 1,650,000.

ADDRESS ON DR. HOLMES

Prof. R. A. Ogg Spoke to Winona Summer School Convocation Yesterday Afternoon.

Prof. R. A. Ogg, of Kokomo, delivered the convocation address of yesterday. Prof. Ogg is a ripe student and handled well his subject, "Dr. Holmes and Psychological Problems." Dr. Holmes' three books which deal with these psychological questions were each in turn reviewed by Prof. Ogg.

In "A Mortal Antipathy" Maurice Kirkwood had an antipathy to beautiful young girls. Ugly women and little children made no impression on the hero, but at the approach of a beautiful woman he was filled with terror.

A physician interested in the case hoped that if a beautiful girl should save Maurice's life, the two nerve centers might reverse their currents. This happened and the young man became normal.

Prof. Ogg drew from this book a valuable lesson for teachers and parents. One often attributes to a balky will what is really caused by a nervous disorder.

In "The Guardian Angel" Dr. Holmes tests the responsibility of sin. A child's heart is made for love and cannot develop normally with it. In this story of "The Guardian Angel" Dr. Holmes shows the struggle when one has inherited tendencies for crime or sin. The contest moves relentlessly onward and it is the purpose of the true teacher to help to strengthen good impulses and weaken the bad ones.

In "The Guardian Angel" love weakened the evil tendencies which the heroine inherited. Dr. Holmes, who believed so strongly in good blood that he thought a man's education should begin several generations before his birth, came to the conclusion in this book, that in the making of character a loving friend who advises rightly can win against inherited tendencies to evil.

One watches with keen interest the development in Elsie Venner. The blood of a venomous snake is in the veins of Elsie, and this causes a gulf that separates her from father and friends. The saving of the teacher's life had a humanizing effect on Elsie, but the wild blood in her conquered, and it was not until she was at death's door that love and sympathy came to her. It was then that she wept for the first time in her life, and bid her father a last good-night with her arms about his neck. When death came the birthmark of the serpent faded out.

Prof. Ogg said that he knew of actual cases much like this story. He said that eminent authorities say that it is possible for lower life to be transmitted to human life, so that the life is made horrible. Many souls about us are struggling for appreciation. The question for teachers and others as well, said Prof. Ogg, is to know how to help these aggravated nervous disorders. No one knows how sharp the sting to these souls who yearn for sympathy and who partly open their hearts to some one who rebuffs or receives this timid advance coldly.

Prof. Ogg closed with an eloquent plea that these lonely ones be bidden to come in and be guests. Obey the Great Teacher in "In as much as ye have done it unto the least of them, ye have done it unto me."

PROGRAMS OF COMMITTEE.

International Sunday School Meeting at Winona Lake.

Programs for the annual session of the executive committee of the International Sunday School Association at Winona Lake have been published. The convention opens Wednesday, August 8 and will remain in session until August 10.

On Wednesday will be the meetings of the different committees while on Thursday will be given the report of General Secretary Laurence and Secretaries Pearce, Merriitt, Shepard, Mrs. Bryner and Mrs. Barnes.

On Thursday afternoon the committees on the incorporation of the headquarters buildings, Mexico, West Indies, Home Department, Education, Theological Seminaries and Interdenominational Bible Reading will report.

On Friday will be the meeting of the adult Bible class department and the primary department, to be followed by the report of the committee on work among the negroes and finance committees.

There are many important and far reaching questions to be discussed and settled at this meeting. Among these questions are more money, more secretaries, the world's fifth convention, the twelfth international and missionary teaching in the Sunday School.

W. N. Hartshorn is chairman of the International Sunday School Association.

Noted Japanese Coming.

V. U. Helm has received word that Dr. Y. Honda, chairman of the National committee of the Y. M. C. A., and president of the Methodist college at Tokio, has sailed for America to spend two months in the interest of the movement for the union of all the various Methodist missions in Japan into one large body. The Methodist church South and North, and the Canadian Methodist church formed a union last April and Dr. Honda is asking that the autonomy of the Japanese church be recognized as recommended by the Japanese and the Missionaries in Japan.

If the American Methodist Board recognizes this autonomy the plan will involve the election of a Japanese bishop or general overseer.

How to Start Off the Day

Students of Hygiene All Agree That the Right Kind of a Breakfast Is Essential.

Thinking people are giving more and more earnest thought as to how to start off each new day so as to put themselves in the best possible physical and mental condition for the work of the day. It is an interesting subject, so interesting indeed that it has attracted the attention of a host of the world's leading scholars and authors on hygiene and many different opinions have been written for the guidance of the people. On one point, at least, all are agreed. This is that the right kind of a breakfast is essential. A perfect breakfast is impossible without Malta-Vita, that delicious, crisp, vitalizing, whole-wheat food.

In making Malta-Vita the whole of the wheat, after being cleaned, is thoroughly steamed and cooked in absolute purity and then mixed with malt extract, a powerful digestive agent, which converts the starch of the wheat into maltose, or malt sugar. Maltose is great food and the weakest stomach digests and assimilates it without effort. After being rolled into thin, wafer-like flakes the malted wheat is baked under such intense heat that it comes from the ovens crisp and brown—positively the most delicious, most healthful food in the world. Always ready to eat. All grocers, now 10 cents.

PAINTINGS OF CHRIST.

Exhibit of Work of Ten American Artists Is Ready for Visitors.

The ten original oil paintings of Christ are on exhibition at the Daguerre building will be shown there probably until the close of the Bible

Conference. The figures are life size and is being displayed under artificial light. Ten American artists have in the pictures given their ideas of the Savior, basing their mental estimate of how He appeared on earth on some Biblical thought. One of the pictures is by John LaFarge, which shows Christ as a shepherd, and its title is taken from "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for thou art with me."

Workman Killed by Train.

David Warren, a workman employed on the new subway of the Pennsylvania railroad, near the entrance to Winona Park, was knocked down and killed yesterday morning. He was standing on the track where a work train backed down on him before he saw it. Warren was about fifty years old and lived at Burket, Ind.

STORY OF A PIANO.

One Used by Van den Berg Has Had a Career.

There are many stories related about the celebrated pianist, Bahm Van den Berg and his attachment for the Smith & Nixon grand piano he uses. This particular make of instrument must be provided for Van den Berg at each concert and to transport one from city to city is a task and at times causes no little trouble for the Theodore Thomas Orchestra management.

Recently the orchestra was leaving Chicago for a Western city when just before train time it was discovered that the large concert grand piano could not be placed in the baggage car, the doors being too small to admit it. The transportation department was appealed to and the car doors of all the baggage cars in the yards were measured yet none were large enough.

Mr. Van den Berg became excited and finally burst into tears. The railroad men were moved by the sight of these tears and his pathetic appeal, then with renewed energy resumed the search. Finally their efforts were rewarded when a large horse car—a regular palace horse car—was secured, which had extra large doors and this was attached to the train and Van den Berg and his Smith & Nixon piano did their concert that evening with the usual success.

Van den Berg may have been a little nervous, but the members of the orchestra say he played with such feeling as is displayed only by a fond father when finding his lost child. This same piano will be used by the great little Belgian with the Thomas Orchestra tonight.

Women's Parlor Meeting.

Mrs. E. M. Whittemore, of New York spoke at the women's parlor meeting yesterday. Mrs. Whittemore, at one time a society leader in New York, nineteen years ago established The Door of Hope. Since then similar homes have sprung up all over the country for the girls of the streets. Mrs. Whittemore is an interesting and enthusiastic speaker.

Mrs. Widaman sang, "Come Unto Me," Miss Chipman was the accompanist.
