EXHIBIT OF PHOTOGRAPHS

Photographers' Association of Indiana
Opens Elaborate Display at Daguerre Building—The School.

The Photographers' Association of Indiana opened its summer school and convention yesterday with the largest exhibition of photographs that has ever marked a meeting of this organization at Winona Lake. The broad walls of the Daguerre building, the summer home of the association, are well covered with high grade pictures, of Indiana are: S. Stout, Paxton, Ill.; M. Papp, Hoboken, N. J.; I. W. Dick- en, Fostoria, Ohio; A. H. Hitchler, New Orleans; J. H. Field, Berlin, Wis.; the Towles Studio, Washington; Miss Rieneke, Kansas City; Thuat Bros., Falls River, Mass.; Wilton Lar- yea, Spokane, Wash.; Will Kellmer, Hazleton, Pa.; L. J. Hitchcock, Plain- field, Mich.; W. L. Vannort, Litchfield, Ky.; W. F. Oliver, Baldwinville, Mass.; A. J. Jackson, Tacoma, Wash.; H. Wiebmer, Quincy, Ill.; R. C. Nel- son, Hastings, Neb.; J. M. Brigham, Battle Creek, Mich.; I. A. DeVos, Chi- cago; C. F. Townsend, Des Moines, Iowa; J. S. H. Lifshy, Brooklyn, N. Y.; the Naschke Studio, Galveston, Texas; L. A. Dozer, Bucyrus, Ohio; O. W. Cole, Danville, Va.; E. E. Doty, Belding, Mich.; Walter Halladay, Dur-

After experimenting for two years, the association has reduced its scheme for practical instruction to what is regarded as about perfection. The attendance and the demand for the instruction is such that it has been necessary to form a schedule under which a large number of photog- raphers can be at work at one time, some in the operating rooms, some in the dark rooms and the others at re- touching. W. S. Lively, president of the School of Photography at Mc- Minnville, Tenn., is superintendent of classes of instruction.

A business session to hear reports of officers will be held this morning. The association will have a general session tonight, when there will be in- formal discussions of business meth- ods.

THE FIRST DAY'S RECORD

Summer Schools Organized and Begin
Work Today—First Convocation
Program Yesterday.

After a busy day of registration and organization, the Winona Sum- mer Schools will this morning take up their regular work, which is to con- tinue through August 18. While accu- rate figures as to the total number of students has not been made up at the registrar's office, it is known that the number is considerably larger than the first day in any former year.

most of them studies from life, and they show to marked degree how photography is advancing as an art. These pictures are the best products the exhibitors have made in the last year, and they are all in competition for money and medal prizes.

The Indiana association is now in its twelfth year and has held annual meetings and exhibits at Indianapolis and Winona Lake, but there never were so many competitors from other states as are seeking prizes this week. Photographers from all over the coun- try who could not be here themselves have sent on photographs which they have entered for prizes, and a commit- tee has seen that the pictures have been place on the walls, where they are effectively exhibited on green bur- lap backgrounds.

A picture in the display which is winning attention is from the studio of R. Duhrkopt, of Hamburg, Ger- many, sent to Winona Lake in the hope of winning a gold medal.

The pictures have been coming in for two days and all will not be in posi- tion until tonight. Some of the ex- hibitors from Indiana are: G. E. Houser, Warsaw; the Carpenter Stu- dio, Wabash; O. L. Harrington, Lo- gansport; Ben Larimer, Marion; the Plunkett Studio, Sullivan; V. B. Har- ty, Frankfort; Frank Cady, Boone- ville; Miss Altha Scott, Goodland; the DeCew Studio, Huntington; E. H. Shalley, Berne; the Stanton Studio, Greenville; W. H. Potter, Indianapo- lis.

The exhibit of pictures will be open to the public only on next Thurs- day afternoon.

The Winona Sunday School.

The Sunday School held in the Wi- nona auditorium last Sunday had an enrollment of 751. The superintend- ent is W. C. Hall, of Indianapolis, and he has three assistants, H. E. DuBois, E. W. Halpenny and Prof. Smith. Lin- coln Dickey and Lewis Scott are sec- retaries.

The primary department is under the supervision of Miss Elenor Kir- bey, of Indianapolis, one of the most skillful kindergartners in the state. Professors Coulter and Palmer will teach the Bible class.

With the exception of the first year, the Sunday School, ever since its or- ganization, has been under the super- intendency of W. C. Hall who, with his experience and enthusiasm in all lines of Sunday School work, has made Winona's school what is now is.

The first convocation exercises were held yesterday afternoon and they will be a week-day feature through the school term. C. M. Mc- Daniel, principal of the summer schools, presided, and in introducing Dr. John M. Coulter, of the University of Chicago, said that Dr. Coulter had been his teacher for four years. Dr. Coulter said that he had enjoyed the privilege of teaching many of the men whom he had met at the Park, among them Dr. S. C. Dickey. Dr. Coulter or- ganized the Winona Summer Schools and said that he was gratified at the growth which had been made from such a small beginning.

The speaker praised the teachers of today and said that they are past the age where the teachers are satisfied with the old education. Everything is being questioned, he said, and in view of this situation, every teacher must be an investigator. Three observations, or investigations, may be carried on by others beside the teacher. "How may teachers be free to show initiative and still the system be maintained is the question," said Dr. Coulter. "A teacher with ideas is the most valuable asset of any school. A second problem is how teachers can best adapt their methods to all pupils. Some teachers were not born to teach, or to learn how to teach.

Between these two grades are the intergrades, which receive the most attention from normal schools. Teachers who have no ideas of their own are always trying to run after outlines made by others. These were called by Dr. Coulter "wooden teachers."

"There are all sorts of avenues of approach for the teacher, but what one is after," he said, "is the continuity of interest in the pupil. The teacher's duty is to germinate the seeds of intellectual life."

The wholesale method of teaching was strongly denounced by Dr. Coulter. The conventional type of education causes the child to lose all spontaneity and he ceases to reach out after the things of nature.

Dr. Coulter said he is baffled by the lack of clear presentation of the subject by the teacher. "How can the impetus of interest be maintained and the necessary subjects studied?" asked Dr. Coulter, and "How can the two sides of intellectual life be balanced properly?" People too often are emotional rather than logical. Power of appreciation is sometimes the power of self-rejection, sometimes self elimination. What society needs today, as indicated by our schools, is putting in more cold facts and the driving out of sentimentalism.

Principal McDaniel introduced Mrs. Eliza Blaker, of Indianapolis, associate principal of the summer schools. Mrs. Blaker said no better spot than Winona could be chosen to fill the student with enthusiasm. She said she was particularly interested in the girls' school that is held at Winona in the winter and she asked all to make inquiries in regard to this as well as the other schools on the grounds. Mr. McDaniel closed the program with an appeal to all the teachers to prepare for more efficient work.

School of Fine Arts.

The School of Fine Arts has a larger enrollment than ever before, and Miss Ellen Iglehart, dean of the school and teacher of water colors, is hopeful for the best year in the history of her department.

Miss Grace Pebbles, of Chicago will have charge of the art meta-work and will teach the making of window boxes, trays, candlesticks and many other articles. She will also teach elementary jewelry.

Miss Edith Freeman of Chicago, is one of the most promising of the young sculptors of the country and praise has been showered upon her by the art critics over her bust of Dr. Frank Gunsaulus.

Miss Freeman will use Winona

clays and will teach how to prepare and wash them.

Miss Mary Iglehart, who teaches embroidery and wood carving, will have some new work begun in Norway sent here to be placed. Miss Iglehart is also expecting a consignment of Japanese embroidery from Yokohama, consisting of table embroidery and shirt waists which will be placed on sale.

CHILDREN AT DOG SHOW.

Some Youngsters Were Two Years Old and Some Were Seventy.

Several hundred children, ranging in age from two to seventy years, enjoyed the first performances of the Schepp dog and pony circus in the big tent yesterday afternoon and evening. Owing to the late arrival of the company there was no musical accompaniment to the performance yesterday afternoon, but despite this the entertainment was most enjoyable.

Little dogs, big dogs, white dogs, black dogs, dogs of high degree and mongrels, performed tricks which delighted the youngsters and astonished the adults. The troupe of ponies drilled with the precision of soldiers. The show is one that pleased from beginning to end and it is safe to say that the tent will be crowded every afternoon and evening this week.

Today is to be a special children's day. The entertainments are especially adapted to children, young and old. The Roney boys and the dog and pony circus will delight all. Every 25 and 15-cent ticket sold today will carry with it admission to the Roney concerts and also to the dog and pony circus.

OPENING OF LIBRARY.

Reading Room Also in Operation at Room 13, College Hall.

The public library and reading room for summer residents at Winona Lake will open at room 13, College Hall, on Wednesday.

Miss Florence L. Jones, librarian of the Winona Technical Institute, Indianapolis, is in charge of the library here. She will be in the library from 1:30 to 4:30 each afternoon; also from 9 to 12 Saturday mornings.

The Public Library Commission has furnished a number of traveling libraries, containing collections of books for general reading; also some special subjects of history, literature, civics, nature study and pedagogy.

Dr. W. W. White has placed a number of books pertaining to Bible study in the public library so that they may be available to students in Bible courses.

Any guest holding a season ticket may obtain books from the library free of charge upon filling out the necessary application blank. Periodicals and reference books may be read and consulted at the library.

THE 11 O'CLOCK HOUR

Dr. W. W. White Spoke at Auditorium on Book of John—Today the Book of Amos.

"Make this school a blessing not only to us, but through us," was the prayer of Dr. White at the opening of the 11 o'clock Bible hour on Monday.

It has been ten years since Dr. White found the outline on John that he now uses, and it came to him in all its strength in one afternoon. At one time he was not as certain about some things as he had been, he said. He decided to read the Gospel through, asking himself as he read, if John actually accomplished his purpose. John 20, 30th and 31st verses. was that thought that induced him to make the study.

Dr. White had thought that John, in the place of giving reasons for believing, simply made statements.

In this study, Dr. White came to the distinction between testimony and explanation. The scientific method of study is action followed by knowledge. John appealed to the judicial rather than the critical in man.

In John 5, verses 39 and 40. Dr. White showed the distinction between the authorized and revised edition and, in his opinion, the two verses should not have been separated.

In the diagram, as given at Saturday's lesson, Dr. White made the seven headings of testimony as shown in the book of John. On yesterday he reviewed this diagram and showed at length how Jesus appealed to the testimony of John the Baptist. The testimony of John, given down by the River Jordan, where he testified so eloquently for the Master who was to come, was put between the divine testimony.

When Christ was in the company of the Jews who rejected Him, one finds in John 5, 38th verse, that He gives them the injunction to "search the Scriptures." But this is not given, as to men who had no knowledge of the Word of God. These Jews had been students of the Old Testament Scriptures from childhood and Jesus spoke to them in the correct text of the revised edition, "Ye search the Scriptures," with the thought that they seek the Scriptures rather than come to Jesus, who is life.

"One must understand how to probe his heart and the hearts of others," said Dr. White, "properly to diagnose a case. This the Lord understood and knew how properly to prescribe."

In a second diagram which Dr. White drew, he showed that in the first twelve chapters of John the word "signs" appears sixteen times, while from John 13 to 20 the word appears but once. The first use of the word is in John 2, where the thought of belief is associated with the word. John 1 to 12 deals with the public ministry of the Lord, which lasted but three years.

John 13 to 20 covers but a few days of the Lord's ministry. It is a private revelation of Himself and He Himself is the great sign—the climax of which is the resurrection.

Today Dr. White will give the hour to the study of the book of Amos, one of the books of the Assyrian prophets.

It is Dr. White's intention to give, at the 11 o'clock hour, a series of book studies that will fit into the regular Isaiah course that is given at 10 o'clock.

Dr. White's hours will be at 6 in the morning, when the gospel of Luke will be the study; 10 o'clock, course in Isaiah; 11 o'clock, outline study of book of the Assyrian prophets.

ELLIS ISLAND MISSION.

Mrs. Besserer Tells of Christian Work
Among Foreigners.

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in the parlors of the Winona Hotel, the women of the Park assembled to hear Mrs. Besserer tell of the Christian work being done among the foreigners that are daily entering the harbors of the United States. The call of Jeremiah, found in the first chapter and the sixth to eleventh verses, was the scripture lesson. Before speaking of the work in "Little Italy" and "Chinatown," Mrs. Besserer spoke of some questions she asked the guide at Ellis Island, one of the questions being, "What becomes of these foreigners after they are brought into this country?" To which the guide replied: "Oh, they are sent into the mining districts, and up into the mountains. Some are brought here and expressed through to the camps. Some go to do the greater part of the railroad work of the country. Some go aimlessly to wander over the country."

"Some though, sent back, go to Canadian and other ports to enter, but we Americans don't do things half way," said the guide. Then he went on to tell how each rejected emigrant's picture was taken and the best description possible given, and sent to all ports of entry. And there the experts, who never forget a face, can readily detect the foreigner should he again try to enter.

Mrs. Besserer then went on to tell about Little Italy, a district of a few squares in New York city into which are crowded thousands and thousands of Italians, where they "live their lives upon the streets near Five Points."

Chinatown was then described. The terrible condition of it was suggested by Mrs. Besserer's opening sentence concerning it: "I can not understand how any one can enjoy going down into these places from pure idle curiosity."

Miss Chapman, in her impressive manner sang, "Give Me Thy Heart," with Miss Corbett as accompanist. Next Monday at 3 p. m. Mrs. Besserer will speak on "the Opportunities of the Society Girl."

FIRST RELIGIOUS JOURNAL.

Editor of Christian Observer Is at Winona for a Vacation.

F. Bartlett Converse, of Louisville, is a guest at the Marshall Memorial. Mr. Converse is the editor of the Christian Observer, the first religious journal established in America. This paper was first published in Philadelphia in 1813 and in 1827 the plant was purchased by the father of F. Bartlett Converse, and has remained in the family ever since, a son of the present editor being now the associate of his father.

The Christian Observer is the organ of the Southern Presbyterian church, and is now advocating a closer relation of the Presbyterian churches. It was through his cousin, John Converse, of Philadelphia, that F. Bartlett Converse first became interested in Winona and he is pleased with the place because, in his words, "there is something to do." It is superior to many resorts, he said, because men can fill every minute with something worth while.

Mr. Converse is one of the leaders in a movement to establish a Chautauqua at Montreat, North Carolina, a place so beautiful and with a location so high that it is called "the land of the sky." In Mr. Converse's opinion, every additional Chautauqua started will add greatly to the growth of Winona.

People bought them by the dozen Saturday. Hose worth 15c and 25c at 10c and 15c. Come and see them. Richardson Dry Goods Co.

Roney's Boys Concert.

Goshen, Warsaw and Winona, people made up one of the largest audiences of the season at the auditorium last night when the Roney's Boys Concert Company gave a popular program, during which about every number was followed by an insistent demand for an encore. This company long ago established itself in the favor of Winona audiences. There is a soprano in the company that has almost the clearness of a flute, and every note sung by the youngsters is marked by sweetness and simplicity. Two concerts will be given today, one this afternoon and the other at 8 p. m.

Jolly Trolley Party.

"Somehow I have a notion To take a trip to Goshen, By trolley locomotion, We'll make a great commotion, Now won't you come with me?" With a unique pen and ink sketch of a trolley car decorated the invitations issued by Miss Bertha Chapman to seventy-five of her friends. The occasion was in honor of Miss Hale, of Omaha, Neb., and Miss Willis and Miss Hazel Willis, of Peoria, Ill. Dr. and Mrs. J. Wilbur Chapman and Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Chapman chaperoned the party. Refreshments were served. A genuine good time was reported by all.

Children's Playground.

A new department of the kindergarten has been instituted this summer. Miss Julia Gregg, a graduate of Mrs. Blaker's training school, with a number of other competent kindergartners, will have charge of a children's playground from 1:30 to 4 o'clock each afternoon, except Sunday. The headquarters of the playground is at Science Hall. The rates are $3 for the season, 65 cents a week, or 15 cents a day.

SOCIAL CLUB'S OPENING

Attractive Apartments Visited by Large Number Yesterday—
Purpose of Club.

The formal opening of the new social and athletic club rooms for the young people of Winona, was held yesterday afternoon. The suite of rooms are tastefully furnished, the color scheme being green and cream. For the opening yesterday potted plants backed the walls, the beautiful green of the foliage harmonizing with the soft tints of the furnishings, while "Old Glory" was draped artistically on the tinted walls.

Tables of all kinds, easy chairs, games, papers, books and a piano give a homelike atmosphere to the place, and there is no doubt but what these club rooms will be what they were intended by the management to be—a social center.

By paying fifty cents a week or two dollars and a half for the season, all the privileges of the rooms may be had, with the addition of golf and tennis.

Mrs. Carrie Rogers Clark, of Trenton, Mo., is a woman of real worth and strong personality, and the club rooms are to be under her personal supervision.

As a meeting place and rest room for the young people, these rooms will appeal strongly for the cozy corners and inviting couches are tempting in their cool restfulness.

At yesterday's opening Misses Florence Flickinger, Indianapolis, and Helen Chipman, Warsaw, played piano solos, while Mrs. James Frazer, of Warsaw, sang.

Mrs. Clark was assisted by Mr. Smith, who has done much to make the movement a success. There is a mistaken idea that these rooms have to do with the boys and girls' club. It has no connection, and is for the social and athletic life of the young men and women of Winona.

Mrs. Spinning, Mrs. Ewalt and Mrs. Rawlings also assisted Mrs. Clark in receiving, and a number of young women served ice and wafers to the many callers.

Attention, Students!

We are in position to fill your wants both in board and rooms. We have the coolest and most pleasant summer dining room in Winona. ## MISS ANGELL'S RECITAL.

Chicago Pianist Appeared With the Rogers' Orchestra.

With the afternoon recital of yesterday came one of the pleasant surprises of the season, in the charming effort of Mary Angell, pianist, of Chicago.

MARY ANGELL.

Miss Angell is rarely fortunate in her gifts and has that intuitive command of her instrument that is a sign of a deep musical nature.

Her program yesterday afternoon was a delightful musical treat and those who heard it will be pleased to know that she will appear again on Wednesday and Friday.

The following numbers were given by the Rogers' orchestra: March, "New England's Finest," Weber's "Der Freischütz," "Dearie," a song for the cornet.

Miss Angell gave two piano numbers: "Walters' Prize Song," from Wagner, and "Concert Study," from "Ausderohe."

The orchestra gave a selection from "Tannhauser" and Bach's "Awakening of Spring." For her second group, Miss Angell played Chopin's Scherzo B Minor and Schubert's "March Militaire."

Degree for Mr. Zartmann.

To Rev. Parley E. Zartmann, Muskingum University, at New Concord, Ohio, has conferred the degree of Doctor of Divinity. This degree was given to him by the college authorities for efficiency in promoting the kingdom of Christ, and but one D.D. degree conferred each year. This degree was conferred in June on Dr. Zartmann, at the same time Dr. Thompson, president of the Ohio State University, received the title LL. D. The late W. R. Harper was a student at Muskingum and both Dr. W. G. Moorehead and Dr. W. W. White have degrees from the same university.

THE NEW COOKING SCHOOL

Miss Dean Will Instruct Young Folks as Well as Adults in the Culinary Science.

Miss Daisy Dean has opened her School of Domestic Science, a new department of the Winona Summer Schools, in a pavilion near The Inn that was formerly used by the department of physical culture. Miss Dean has charge of similar work in the public schools of Fort Wayne and she the young folks, as she will deal with simple cooking along this line that can be produced by the youthful ones with few implements and still get the kind of food that is most wholesome and enjoyable in camp life. The class for the young students will be instructed from 9:30 to 11 a. m. on Mondays and Wednesdays, and the tuition will be half price, $6 for the term. The regular class tuition is $12 a term, or $7 a half term, while the materials will cost the student six or seven cents a day.

As the individual cooking outfits are limited in number, only about fourteen of the young students can be accommodated. Miss Dean will give the youngsters practical instruction in uses some original methods in giving instruction. Instead of doing all the demonstrating herself and explaining it to the students, she has a number of individual outfits and starts the ambitious pupils to cooking, while the teacher makes the work clear to them as they perform it. There is hardly a phase of culinary work about a household which Miss Dean does not teach, not only cooking, but the food values of kitchen supplies, how to buy on the markets, household management and a hundred and one subjects which will lighten the work of a home and get better results all along the line.

Miss Dean will teach a class of boys and girls in camp cookery, and she believes she can arouse the interest of dining room work, such as setting and decorating tables and in serving food.
