WINONA LAKE, IND., FRIDAY, JULY 20, 1906

COMING DAYS AT WINONA

Musical Events, Lectures, Readers, Moving Pictures on Program for the Next Week.

As the Winona Assembly season advances the programs become stronger and more varied, and during the next ten days there will be presented a number of features of interest to the summer school students, the music lovers and the pleasure seekers. The season at Winona Lake is proving to be an extraordinary one in point of attendance, the weather has been delightful and the spirit of sociability is abroad in the Park to an uncommon degree.

Ellsworth Plumstead, monologist, is to give two more programs with the Rogers' Band and Symphony Orchestra this afternoon and tonight. Tomorrow night one of the musical events of the Winona season will be given, when Haydn's "Creation" is to be sung by the Winona chorus, by Marion Greep and other gifted soloists, supported by the Rogers' Orchestra. The production has been in rehearsal for some time under the direction of Prof. H. W. Owens, and the presentation of the "Creation" promises to be the best musical event of the kind that Winona has had in years.

Eph Thompson and his highly trained elephants begin their second week at Winona Park on Monday and through the following six days will give afternoon and night performances.

On next Monday night the faculty of the Metropolitan College of Music, under the direction of Prof. W. S. Sterling, will give a recital.

The Rogers' Band will give daily programs during the week and on next Tuesday night and Wednesday afternoon Nellie Peck Saunders, a talented reader, will appear with the band. Mrs. Saunders will give "Das Hexenlied," a ballad for recitation with orchestral accompaniment, as one of her programs, and the other will be "The Lane That Had No Turning," by Gilbert Parker. As a reader, Mrs. Saunders has remarkable versatility, changing in a moment from liveliest gaiety to deepest pathos, and she has pleasing personality and dramatic ability.

One of the best lecturers on the Winona program will be here next

MARION GREEN,
Who Will Sing in "The Creation," at Winona.

Wednesday night. He is Dr. R. S. MacArthur, who will speak on "The True Story of Louisiana." It will be a dramatic story of value to the lover of history, and it will be graphically told.

The Robertson moving pictures, always an event of interest, will be shown on the night of Thursday, July 26. Since Mr. Robertson began showing his pictures at Winona, about nine years ago, many changes and improvements have been made. A few years ago the pictures were 50 to 60 feet in length. Now they run from 500 to 1,200, presenting all sorts of lively subjects. It is doubtful if the Robertson pictures have an equal in this country.

Martha Drury, another capable reader, will appear with the Rogers' Band on next Thursday afternoon and Friday night. Miss Drury, after graduating from the Neponset, Ill., high school was a student of expression and physical culture in Chicago. She has been teacher of vocal expression and physical culture in the Winona Park School for Young Women. She reads from the higher authors and her work is instructive as well as entertaining. The Viola, Ill., Enterprise said of her appearance in that city:

"A dramatic recital given at the Opera House Tuesday evening by Miss Drury far exceeded the splendid estimates of her work in other places. Utter absence of affectation, ease of manner, unusual ability in impersonation, clearness of tone, and perfect mastery of her subjects, are marked characteristics. Her reading from 'Les Miserables' was that which only an artist of the highest ability and

THE THOMAS CONCERTS

Arrangements at Winona Park for Crowds During Programs Week of July 30.

The Theodore Thomas Orchestra, of Chicago, the premier musical organization of its kind in America, and doubtless the equal of the pretentious orchestras of Europe, comes to Winona Lake on July 30 to spend a week, when afternoon and evening concerts will be given. It will be the longest engagement the Thomas organization ever had in Indiana, and the concerts will be at popular prices. A visitor can obtain a gate ticket for the full week at Winona Park for $1.50. The orchestra will bring a number of eminent soloists. Four have been engaged for the week and the number may be increased by the names of three of the greatest pianists in the world. It will without doubt be the musical event of the summer in the Middle West.

The indications are that music lovers from many cities of Indiana and adjoining states will hear the Thomas programs, which are to be made up of classical numbers of the more popular kind.

It is for the protection of visitors who are expected to pour into the Park for the concerts that the Assembly management has decided to reserve about 700 seats on the lower floor of the auditorium and three rows in the balcony at both the matinee and evening performances. The sale of these seats, open to residents and visitors now at the park, will begin next Wednesday morning. The schedule of prices for reserved seats will be the same as during the Createore band engagement. A season ticket for a reserved seat, good for the six night concerts, will be sold for one dollar. Buyers of these seats will receive a slip showing that the purchase has been made, and when the buyer goes to the auditorium on the night of a concert, he will turn in the purchase slip when he will receive the seat coupon. The coupon will be held until the end of the first number on the program, when, if it is not claimed, it may be sold to some one else for that evening. Single reserved seats will be sold at 25 cents each.

Owing to the number of visitors expected for a single afternoon concert, there will be no season seat tickets sold for the day events, but they may be purchased in advance at 25 cents a seat.

The Assembly management has been led to make these reserved seat arrangements by experience in other years. There are enough people now at Winona Park to fill the auditorium about twice, and by the time the Thomas Orchestra arrives the number will be largely increased. By throwing open the doors to "first come first served," the result might be that residents of the Park might take possession of seats hours before a concert would open, and when visitors from a distance arrived they could find no room available.

Orders by mail or telegraph may be sent for reserved seats, the orders being filled in the order in which they are received.

THE KING OF THE NATIONS.

Dr. White Spoke on That Portion of Isaiah Called the Book of Immanuel.

At the 11 o'clock Bible hour yesterday, Dr. Wilbert W. White took for his theme chapters seven to twelve of the book of Isaiah. By way of introduction, he read the thirty-first chapter of Ezekiel, which is a remarkable description of the strength and pride of the Assyrian. Like a great tree sheltering the fowls of all the earth and stretching out its boughs over all peoples, Assyria flourished on the Tigris. Egypt, on the Nile, rivalled the Assyrian splendor and yet from Babylon, on the Euphrates, Ezekiel declares that Egypt's glory, like that of Assyria, shall depart. It is well to keep this thirty-first chapter of Ezekiel in mind when studying that portion of Isaiah which tells of the coming of Immanuel and Assyria's downfall, namely, chapters 7-12.

In a general way, said Dr. White, the Book of Isaiah may be divided into two parts, the first part comprising chapters 1-39, and the second part chapters 40-66. This first part may be divided into three parts, chapters 1-12, 13-27 and 28-35, leaving what might be considered a less significant part, chapters 36-39.

Taking chapters 1-12, one may consider chapter 1 as an introduction and chapter 12 as a conclusion. Chapters 2-5 may be called the Book of Hardening; chapter 6 is a description of Isaiah's deep religious experience accompanying his call, and chapters 7-11 have been fittingly called the Book of Immanuel. Chapters 2-5 have a few bright spots, but the dark spots predominate to an extent that suggests the possibility of Isaiah's writing chapter 6 in answer to the protests of the people who in all probability accused him of unwarranted pessimism.

In reading chapters 7-11, it must be borne in mind that the predicted triumph of Assyria over God's chosen people was the inevitable result of the degeneration of Judah's kings.

Their wickedness culminated in the infamy of Ahaz. But right here we see the dawn of hope for the remnant. Even from the House of David God was yet going to raise up a king of righteousness. "Unto us a Child is born; unto us a Son is given; and the government shall be upon his shoulder; and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The Mighty God, The Everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace."

Immanuel was Israel's hope. Immanuel shall be the King of the nations. The pride of Assyria shall be humbled. "Behold, the Lord, the Lord of Hosts, shall lop the bough with terror; and the high ones of stature shall be hewn down, and the haughty shall be humbled. And he shall cut down the thickets of the forest with iron, and Lebanon shall fall by a mighty one. And there shall come forth a rod out of the stem of Jesse, and a Branch shall grow out of his roots," etc., through chapter eleven.

Tomorrow Dr. White will speak at the 11 o'clock Bible hour on the Doctrine of God in chapters 40-48, as seen in His ability to predict.

AIRSHIP AT WINONA LAKE.

Machine That Is Guaranteed to Fly Coming on August 7.

The Bodkins airship, a machine that has been perfected to the point that aeronauts over the country are watching it with interest, comes to Winona Lake August 7. The owner guarantees that the machine will fly, and during the exhibitions it is expected to cut figure 8's a thousand feet above the lake. The Bodkins airship is 100 feet long. It recently made a twenty-two mile flight at Harvey, Ill. The machine will be at Winona during the week that the allied editorial associations of Indiana hold their week's outing, and the musical programs will be by the Indianapolis News' Newsboys' Band.

Convention of the Gideons.

The national convention of the Gideons begins at Winona Lake this morning, and during the three days' meeting a large number of Christian commercial travelers are expected. The cabinet officers of the order will meet at the Winona Hotel at 10 o'clock this morning, and in the afternoon the national executive committee will meet. The first session of the convention proper will be at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

The organization, which was formed five years ago, now has a membership of about 6,000, and state and local branches are being established all over the country. The convention was obtained for Winona Lake last year largely through the efforts of W. C. Hall, who is one of the most active workers in the order. Most of the national officers, who are all business men, will attend the convention here.

George L. Dalton, of Clinton, Ind., is at the Merrimac.

COST OF NATION'S LIQUOR

Enormous Figures Given by Rev. U. G. Humphrey on Money Spent Annually—Hillside Meetings.

Rev. U. G. Humphrey gave a valuable address at the hillside meeting of the Temperance Training School yesterday morning.

"It is the American home," said Mr. Humphrey, "that furnishes the raw material with which the saloons turn out criminals and drunkards."

It is estimated that there are 254,498 places engaged in the wholesale and retail liquor trade. The aggregate investment of these places amounts to nearly $1,000,000,000. There were 651,554 persons engaged in the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in the United States, that is about one to every 116 of our population. The consumption per capita of all kinds of intoxicating liquors in the United States is nearly twenty gallons. A little more than eighteen gallons of this was beer and less than two gallons wine and spirits. In 1905 the liquor bill of this nation was $1,548,708,307, or a sum exceeding all the receipts of all the railways in the United States. We spent $263,708,307 more for intoxicating liquors last year than we spent for flour and meat, and five times as much as for public education and for the evangelization of the world.

The man who drinks finds it difficult to obtain a desirable position. According to the United States Department of Labor 90 per cent of the railways, 79 per cent of the manufacturers, 88 per cent of the trades, and 72 per cent of the agriculturists discriminate against the man who uses intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes. Too many business men are afraid of the threatened boycott by the liquor traffic and so do not become signers of the remonstrance. An interesting account was given by Mr. Humphrey of a hardware man who lost his position because of his interest and work in getting signers for a remonstrance. He started a store calling it the "Boycott Store." In spite of the bitterest opposition by the saloon element he made his business a success.

The enormous amount of money paid to the government by the saloons as license money is one reason they are tolerated. Yet we as a nation forget that it costs us $6.15 to $1 paid in for the liquor license to care for helpless, insane and poor caused by this same traffic.

Mr. Humphrey cited the case of one criminal who was given three trials for offenses all caused by getting drunk. The cost was $5,000 more than all the money collected from the liquor license in the county. Mr. Humphrey does not regard the high license as any victory to temperance. True, it diminishes the number of saloons, but those remaining are put into the hands of man who can equip them well and it is the fine saloon that is ruining the most young men. The hotel bar is the greatest blot on the escutcheon of temperance. Here is where young men without number are ruined and started on the downward path.

Mr. Humphrey paid a compliment to the Christian traveling man. It is seldom one meets with one who is not in hearty sympathy with the work and wishes that the "treat" system might be abolished. The great fight in Indiana is to destroy the license system. Already 149 townships and 40 cities of Indiana are on the dry list, and from the systematic fight being waged Mr. Humphrey is confident of a great victory to the greatest sufferers, the helpless women and children who cry aloud that their wrongs may be righted.

"Our Laws—Their Use," was the subject of the address given yesterday afternoon on the hillside by J. F. Lewis, the attorney for Indiana of the Anti-Saloon League. Mr. Lewis is an strong speaker, and his familiarity with Indiana laws made his address helpful to his audience. Mr. Lewis said in part:

"Strength of law depends upon proper enforcement. No law, no difference how well it is adapted to the needs of the people, is of any value unless it is sustained by a wholesome and intelligent public sentiment. Law enforcement requires due regard for all law.

"Indiana is in possession of liquor laws that, in many respects, surpass those of any other state in the Union. They provide against allowing any unfit or immoral man engaging in the business. They provide against the sale of liquor on Sunday, to intoxicated persons, to minors, or even allowing them to loiter or to become habitual drunkards.

"The law known as the Moore amendment to the Nicholson law has in it several strong features. One is, that it is against the traffic instead of against the individual applicant, as formerly was the case under the Nicholson law.

"In the old law the liquor man could summon all the witnesses he desired which usually included all the remonstrators, then to increase their burden, he would take a change of venue to an adjoining county. There is a large part of Indiana that today is cursed by the liquor power, but for no other reason than a want of appreciation on the part of the temperance people of one of the very best laws that was ever enacted."

Rev. Mr. Young gave a lecture on the temperance movement at the auditorium last night.

THE NOISE NUISANCE.

As the result of a general demand from those who go to the Winona auditorium for the purpose of enjoying the program, it was yesterday announced that steps would be taken for the suppression of the noise nuisance. Ushers have been posted at various points throughout the auditorium with instructions to give necessary attention to those who persist in the effort to attract more notice than the person who occupies the platform. The practice of leaving the auditorium during the progress of program numbers, except in cases of illness, will be hereafter prohibited. Persons who expect to leave the house during the progress of an entertainment or lecture will be expected to so seat themselves that their exit will not disturb and annoy the speaker and the entire audience. If it is necessary to prohibit the entrance into the auditorium of children unaccompanied by their parents in order to terminate the annoyance to which auditors have been subjected from that source recently, this will be done. The large crowds at the auditorium this year have rendered conspicuous the thoughtlessness of a certain type of public nuisance common to every large assemblage, and it has become absolutely essential to the enjoyment of the program by the general public that consideration for the rights of others be made obligatory where it is not voluntarily given.

taste can execute. Her rendition of 'The Theater Party,' from 'Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch,' revealed that Miss Drury is not only an artist, but also possessed of such literary taste as to recognize a work of merit done by an author of the day. Her ability as an impersonator was splendidly brought out in the reading 'At the Photographer's.' In a word, the whole recital was an inspiration of taste for the best things. A large audience was present and thoroughly appreciated the artistic work brought before them."

Miss Hazel Neff will be the soloist with the Rogers' Band on Saturday afternoon of next week.

The week will end with another eminent lecturer, Bishop Galloway, of the Methodist church South, who will speak on "The South and the Negro." He will discuss the advancement of the negro from a social viewpoint, and the Bishop speaks with a voice of authority on the so-called "negro problem."

Weeds of the Wayside.

One of the most popular series of lectures ever given at Winona is that by Prof. S. C. Schmucker. Interest in these lectures is growing daily. The talk at yesterday's convocation was on "Wayside Weeds." Prof. Schmucker said "no teacher can have for her excuse in not doing nature study, a lack of material, for all she need do is to use here eyes going to and from school." A collection of Winona's weeds was gathered and brought to the auditorium by Prof. Schmucker to illustrate his lecture. Prof. Schmucker wishes that one might return to the herbs of our ancestors. They can do no harm, and the hot water of the tea will be good for the system and the faith with which they are taken will tell for final recovery.

Miss Lillian Emerson, of Elkhart, is at the Merrimac.

TALKS TO HIS ELEPHANTS

Eph Thompson Tells of Traits of His Trained Animals—How Mary Was Taught.

Eph Thompson, whose four trained elephants are giving two performances a day at Winona Park, has been associated with the animals so long that he now looks upon them as children who understand what he says to them. "They know every word I say to them," the big trainer said. "I talk to them just as I would to 'kids.' And that is just what they are. Elephants are like human beings. Some are smart and others know nothing. I have had elephants understand what I wanted of them in six months time and they would turn right in and work with me, and then others would be so stupid after years of training that I would have to sell them."

"One thing, they are not as smart as stories make them out. There is an elephant in the zoo at Philadelphia that I handled twenty-two years ago with Forepaugh's circus, and I am going to see him when I am in Philadelphia. That elephant won't know me, although the story goes that an elephant has a long memory. But two years is their limit. That story of an elephant remembering for years the man who gave it a chew of tobacco is all nonsense.

"I have never tried to see what is the capacity of an elephant for learning tricks. They might be taught to do fifty. But I do know that I have taught my largest one to do over thirty, and she can go through any one of them with only a few days' rehearsing. An elephant can be taught anything that is in his nature to do, but when you go outside of that it is only the exceptional elephant that can be trained. There is Mary, for instance. She is the only elephant in the world that can do a somersault, and I guess she will remain the only one. I invented the trick and taught it to her, and I'll never teach another. The fact is, I can't get another to try it. I've tried, but it was no use. I worked nineteen months teaching Mary and it nearly made me gray. Twice a day we were at it. I used plenty of carrots, of which she is very fond, and I guess she was the elephant that was picked out to do this trick. I can't find another, and if I could I wouldn't go through with it again."

Eph Thompson is as unusual as his elephants. He has been a trainer all his life and he has traveled all over the world. In the barbaric parts of Russia, India and Ceylon he has gathered up a wonderful fund of information of human nature in the raw and he can speak many languages and dialects. "I like Europe better than the United States for show purposes," he said. "In this country a circus stays in a town for a day. In Europe the show will be in one town a month. I always show my elephants seven months in Berlin."

When Thompson hangs up his hat in his own home, which is not very often, he is in Paris, France. He gets $1,700 for his two weeks' work at Winona Park. But at this rate Thompson is not rich. He has lost a fortune or two by the death of elephants in the many years that he has been the owner of such animals.

HARD HITTING ON BOTH SIDES.

Milford and Goshen Now Tied for First Place—League Changes.

League Standing.
	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Goshen	3	2	600
Milford	3	2	600
Warsaw	1	1	500
Winona	1	3	250

Milford tied Goshen for first place in the Interurban League yesterday by a score of 11 to 7 defeat on the Goshen diamond. It was a see-saw game with hard hitting on both sides. Rapp and Bamberger were both driven to the bench, but A. Ogden and Becknell, who replaced them, were invincible and stopped the batting rallies. Score by innings:

Milford ... 0 4 0 0 0 1 0 6 0—11 16 5
Goshen ... 2 0 0 0 1 2 2 0 0—7 13 6

Batteries—Rapp, A. Ogden and H. Ogden; Bamberger, Becknell and Starbuck.

The next league game will be played Saturday between Winona and Warsaw on the Winona athletic field. Game called at 3:15.

Leesburg and New Paris will enter the W. I. League next week. They will probably play each other on Wednesday and Leesburg will come to Winona Saturday.

The schedule for the Winona-Goshen games next week has been changed on account of the excursion to Winona from Goshen. The game scheduled for Saturday at Winona will be played on Thursday and Winona will go to Goshen on Monday.

Week of Excursions.

Next week will be one of the greatest excursion weeks in the history of Winona Assembly. Among the large excursions are those of the Grocers' and Butchers' Associations of Marion and South Bend, which are expected to bring to the Park about two thousand people each. The M. E. Sunday Schools of Anderson will bring about a thousand people to the Lake. Bourbon will contribute another thousand on Thursday. A number of excursions are booked for the week of the Thomas Orchestra. The largest excursion of the season, in all probability will be that of the Tipton County Sunday School Association August 7. Last year this excursion carried 2,500 people to Michigan City and this year the management of the association expects to bring three thousand visitors to Winona.

AN OLD-FASHIONED HOME

Large Number of People Heard Dr. Chapman at Thursday Night Praise Service.

Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman spoke to a large audience at the praise service last evening, giving a sermon, "An Old-Fashioned Home," which he preached in many cities of the country last winter. He said:

"If you will tell me what is in your house by your own choice I will tell you the story of your home life and will be able to inform you whether yours is a home in which there is harmony and peace or confusion and despair. Let me read the names of the guests in your guest book, allow me to study the titles of the books in your library in which you have special delight, permit me to scan your magazines which you particularly choose, allow me to listen to your conversation when you do not know that you are being overheard, give me the privilege of talking but for a moment to your servants and make it possible for me to visit with your friends in whom you have particular delight, and I will write a true story of what you have been, of what you are and of what you will be but for the grace of God, even though I may not know you personally at all. In other words, whatever may be seen in your home determines what your home is.

"The dearest and most sacred spot on earth is home. Around it are the most sacred associations, about it cluster the sweetest memories. The buildings are not always palatial, the furnishings are not always of the best, but when the home is worthy of the name ladders are let down from Heaven to those below, the angels of God come down bringing Heaven's blessings and ascend taking earth's crosses. Such a home is the dearest spot on earth because there your father worked and your mother loved. There is no love which surpasses this.

"We are drifting away from our old-fashioned homes, fathers have grown too busy, mothers have delegated their God-given work to others. We have lost instead of gained. Wherever the homes are full of weakness the government is in danger. The homes of our country are so many streams pouring themselves into the great current of moral and social life. If the home life is pure then all is pure.

"There are two great forces in every home. I speak of the father and the mother, not but that the children have their part in either making or breaking a household, but these two are the mightiest of agencies.

"The mother stands first. There are certain things which must be true of every mother. She must be a Christian. The father may fail if he must, but let the mother fail and God pity the children. She must be consistent. The children may forget the inconsistencies of the father, but when the mother fails the impression is lasting as time and almost as lasting as eternity.

"There are special requisites which must be made without which no father can maintain his God-given position. He must be a man of prayer. No man can bear the burdens of life or meet its responsibilities properly if he is a stranger to prayer. He must be a man of Bible study. One of the most priceless treasures I have is a Bible my father studied, the pages of which he turned over and over and which I never used to read without a great heart throb."

Reception for Young People.

The Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. entertained about six hundred young people Wednesday evening on the veranda of the Winona Hotel. The guests were met by the Misses Helen Hackett and Grace Townley, and Wilbur White who gave to each one a card on which he wrote his name and pinned to his coat. The guests were then greeted by the reception committee, composed of Presidents Miss Helen White and P. E. Zartmann, Vice Presidents Miss Jane Corbett and Robert Little, Mrs. Besserer and Mr. Harrington. Informality prevailed from the beginning of the evening until the close. The punch bowls, which were gracefully managed by Miss Jean Townley and Page Yarnelle, were the most popular places on the beautifully decorated veranda. At 9:30 p. m. a splendid program was rendered under the direction of Miss Bertha Chapman and W. H. Collisson. The various numbers were by Mrs. James Frazer, Mrs. Eveline Winegardner-Blanchard, Miss Bertha Chapman, Ellsworth Plumstead and W. H. Collisson. Mrs. Blanchard recited the "Rose Diamond" from "In the Bishop's Carriage," which was enthusiastically received.

Monologues and Music.

A more popular entertainment could not be desired for a warm July afternoon than the soothing music by the Rogers' Band and Orchestra and the monologues of Ellsworth Plumstead at the auditorium yesterday afternoon. The orchestra gave a half-dozen airy numbers. The auditorium was filled with tired excursionists who found much pleasure in Mr. Plumstead's efforts, and he, as well as the music, was heartily applauded.

Mr. Plumstead will begin his entertainment at the auditorium at 7:30 tonight, opening it with an impersonation of an old actor, during which he will sing "Heart Bowed Down."

An Evening on the Steamer.

The Western College girls entertained several hundred people on the City of Warsaw last evening. An orchestra of ten pieces from the Rogers' orchestra furnished the music. Refreshments were served and a jolly good time was had by all.
