THE FOURTH AT WINONA

Great Crowd of People at the Park—
Band Concerts, an Oration, Fireworks Mark the Day.

A new mark from which to measure Fourth of July crowds was set at Winona Lake yesterday, for the number of visitors, not including those who were on the grounds for more than the day, was larger than on any former Independence Day that Winona has celebrated. It was so large, in fact, that the crowd itself became almost the chief feature of the day. Soon after the gatesmen went on duty at the entrance building the visitors began arriving. Some of them traveled from the farm in two-horse wagons, with the whole family seated in chairs. The street cars from Warsaw were well loaded early in the morning. The first cars over the interurban line from Goshen brought in scores of people, who could not resist the coaxing of the bright morning sun to come into the open and spend the holiday on the shores of picturesque Winona Lake.

It was a typical Fourth of July crowd from Northern Indiana—one bent on making the most of the day. The visitors kept the City of Warsaw busy steaming about the lake. Small boys and girls splashed in the waters of the bathing beach. It was a crowd that ate peanuts and drank lemonade. Belles in summer gowns were in the Park by hundreds, and their beaux were with them. The old folks were just as numerous, and many of them were laden with baskets of food. At noon, after the sight-seeing of the morning had developed healthy appetites, the lawns of the Park were turned into dinner picnic grounds, the hungry that came without baskets fled to the restaurants, hotels and boarding houses.

When the Rogers' Band began its concerts it was surrounded by crowds of people. The trained animal show drew a full share of attention. In the early afternoon, with the sun still bright, the crowds really began to come. They were unloaded from street cars at the gate and wandered down the cement way through the Park in almost solid procession, two, three and four abreast. The big audi-

TO OLD GLORY

BY CAPT. JACK CRAWFORD, THE POET SCOUT.

[Written for the Celebration of the Fourth at Winona Lake.]

Old Glory, Old Glory! The sky was your home
Till Washington plucked you from God's starry dome,
When free men unfurled thee and pledged love to you,
Dear emblem of liberty—red, white and blue.

When Europe's proud soldiers invaded our soil,
With Tyranny's mandates our land to despoil,
They flaunted their rags at our old Bunker Hill,
The flower of the British determined to kill,
The bud slowly sprouting of Liberty's tree—
But Putnam and Warren had sworn to be free.

Twice rolled the wave of red oppression high,
Twice Britons charged, 'twas their's to do or die,
While Prescott stood like old Thermopoli,
And Putnam led the line for Liberty,
And Warren died, just as the British reeled
And fled in wild disorder from the field.

God's hand was in the fight at Bunker Hill—
God's hand is in the fight we're fighting still—
Fighting for truth and justice—mighty might still Usurps the law and oft defeats the right.

But God presented us a Washington,
A statesman, and a man behind the gun.
He gave us Lincoln, whom we needed most
To lead and guide us, and a mighty host
Of mighty men who gave their lives that we Might live beneath Old Glory, truly free.

He gave us still another mighty man—
None greater since our Union first began—
None braver, stronger, nobler than he;
None more in love with duty and with thee,
Old Glory, for he stood where comrades fell,
And charged beneath thy folds in front of hell,
And dared when statesmen feared the truth to tell.

Thank God for Roosevelt, who puts to shame
Statesmen who are statesmen but in name;
Who dares to throttle vice in high finance,
Assisting Thomas Lawson with his lance,
Who says "Thou shalt not steal, thou shalt not cheat,
Nor kill my people with your rotten meat;"
Nor yet oppress the poor and weak, because I've sworn, and I will sure enforce the laws."

Hurrah, Old Glory! You are proud of Ted.
Proud of comrades mine, who fought and bled,
For love of you and what you represent—
Justice, freedom and good government.

And here on this glorious Fourth of July,
As I gaze on thy folds with a tear in my eye,
The boys and the girls, and the old people, too,
Are gazing, admiring and worshipping you,
For the hearts of Winona and souls are aglow,
With love of our Winona—they love you, I know;
And so, dear Old Glory, lovely flag of the free,
I will wind up this rhyme with a tribute to thee.

The Events of the Day.

The sixth annual Fourth of July track and field meet was held on the athletic field, at Winona Lake yesterday. There were entries from ten colleges and high schools and the Winona Agricultural institute. The meet began promptly at 2 p. m. and the pole vault was finished a few minutes after 4. The track was in good shape, considering the hard rain of the day before, and the time was very fair, for the soft places which had not entirely dried out.

Two of the contestants were patriotic enough to play baseball in the morning, giving up some of their chances for medal winning in the afternoon. They were Louis and Russel Scott, and they both played fine ball, but were not rested enough to do their best in the afternoon, though Louis won the low hurdles and took second in the 220 yards dash, and Russel secured a point in the mile.

Earlham won the meet by one point from Wabash, with Hammond high school third. The points were divided as follows: Earlham, 27; Wabash, 26; Hammond high school, 13; Indiana University and Monmouth, 10; Lake Forest and Elkhart high, 9; University of Virginia, 5; Sterling high school, 3; W. A. I. and Bourbon high school, 1. The events:

220-yard dash—Norwood, Monmouth, first; L. Scott, Lake Forest, second; Carey, Earlham, third. Time 25 seconds.

440-yard dash—Reed, Wabash, first; Donaldson, Sterling, second. Time, 61 seconds.

torium filled up for another band concert, and the crowd was demonstrative over the patriotic songs of Mrs. Florence Gavin. While the early afternoon concert was in progress, a thousand people gathered at the athletic field to see the contests. The City of Warsaw was still busy carrying its well-filled decks of people on excursions about the lake. More boys and girls were in the water at the swimming beach.

The cottagers came out in the afternoon to join with the visitors of the day in the observation of a "sane" Fourth. It was a morning and an afternoon without the explosion of giant crackers and dynamite cart ridges, although a few children in vested their money in fire crackers and burnt them up to get the crackers out of their pent-up misery.

Capt. Jack Crawford, the poet scout orator of the day, came in from Chicago, during the morning. The thought of coming to Winona gave him an inspiration as his train sped along, and the result was a tribute to Old Glory, published in this number of The Review. Capt. Jack, in a pair of new burnished high boots, in trousers suggestive of an old Indian fighter, with a long Prince Albert that suggested the Fourth of July orator, was informed as soon as he reached the Park that he was to turn his patriotism loose and make the speech of the day.

"You watch me," said the poet scout, as he shook his head of long gray curls, "I'll make the eagle scream this day!"

FRONTIERSMAN AT WINONA.

Capt. Jack Crawford, Poet-Scout, Was Speaker on the Fourth.

One of the striking figures on the lecture platform today is Capt. Jack Crawford, the poet-scout, who delivered the principal address of yesterday at Winona. Capt. "Jack" wore the dress of the frontiersman, with a knife and pistol at his belt, and with his long gray hair and piercing eyes, he presented a picturesque appearance as he told of his experiences in the Far West and read his poems of nature.

"On the Fourth of July," said Capt. Crawford, "one must let the inspiration come. I love the 'wild and fuzzy' West where the hand of God is seen."

Five times was Captain Crawford shot by Indians while on the trail. He still wears the coat with the bullet holes and says that his long hair is a badge of honor, no one but the chief of scouts being allowed this privilege.

"There are no outlaws raised in the West," said Captain Crawford, "they all come from the East," and many are the boys who have been sent home by Captain Crawford. Boys who have been ruined by the dime novel are making the outlaws of the West.

Capt. Crawford said he was never in school but four days in his life, and received a "lickin'" every day he went. He declared himself ignorant of grammar or arithmetic and says that the only thing that has kept him out of the penitentiary was a pledge that he would never taste drink. The Captain told some thrilling experiences of how the cowboys of the West tried to compel him to break his promise.

After General Grant's death, Captain Crawford was asked to serve on Gen. Sickel's staff, and attend the funeral with the Grand Army. While paying a visit to Grant's tomb, Captain Crawford received the inspiration to write a tribute to the dead General, which he recited.

For the benefit of the boys, Captain Crawford told a story of Col. Polk, an old war friend, who first encouraged him in his work as a public speaker.

Captain Crawford recited his poem, "The Bronco Bicycle," which was well received. Capt. "Jack" next gave his "Toast to Ladies." This poem was first given at a banquet in Boston, where he went as Col. Polk's guest.

THE FIREWORKS DISPLAY.

Three Thousand People Witness Closing Event of Glorious Fourth.

When the fireworks display began at 8:30, perhaps 3,000 people were on the shore of the lake before the Winona Hotel. The rockets, candles, bright fires and other pieces were touched off on the barge and boats far out in the water, and, under the bright moon, the effect was brilliant. The steamer City of Warsaw, loaded with people, and with Rogers' Band on board, was a fine picture in itself, with its electric illumination, while the big boat was anchored out in the lake where the passengers might witness the closing events of Winona's most glorious Fourth.

Finances of the Church.

Dr. Charles E. Bradt with his family expect to spend the greater part of the summer at Winona. Dr. Bradt, who is now the Presbyterian foreign secretary for the Middle West, was formerly from Wichita, Kan., where his church led in foreign work. This Wichita church supports eight missionaries in the foreign field. Dr. Hunter Corbett, the present Moderator, being one of the eight. Besides this it has contributed $30,000 each to both the Foreign and Home Missionary Boards.

Dr. Bradt is the author of an interesting little pamphlet on "How to Manage Church Finances Successfully," in which he claims that the financial plan of church life has more to do with the spiritual state of the church than almost anything aside from the preaching, and the best preaching will be utterly spoiled by poor church financing.

ANIMALS WIN ATTENTION

Arnoldo Tells of His Adventures With His Leopards and Jaguars—Performances Every Day.

Arnoldo and his seven trained animals are getting much attention, especially from the children, while spending the week at Winon Park. Visitors swarmed into the big canvas enclosure near Duke's fountain for the four performances yesterday and wondered at the intelligence shown by the jaguars and leopards, and still more at how Arnoldo has brought the beasts under his control.

An extra performance was necessary yesterday afternoon that the about animals—have blood in them. And yet he doesn't have the slightest fear of ever losing enough of his own to put him out of business.

Sig. Arnoldo likes to reach into the cages of his mountain lions and four leopards and shake hands with them, when he isn't working with them on the stage, and he smiles at their growls.

The trainer began his schooling about six years ago, when he began giving a daring act with the Bostock animal show at the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo. Daily he took a panther by its four feet and twined its paws around his neck while the audience yelled and thought him crazy.

"Oh, but I wasn't, not even foolish," he says. "Now, I don't believe in brass buttons and braid and guns and clubs for use by animal trainers nor in shrouding their work with mystery.

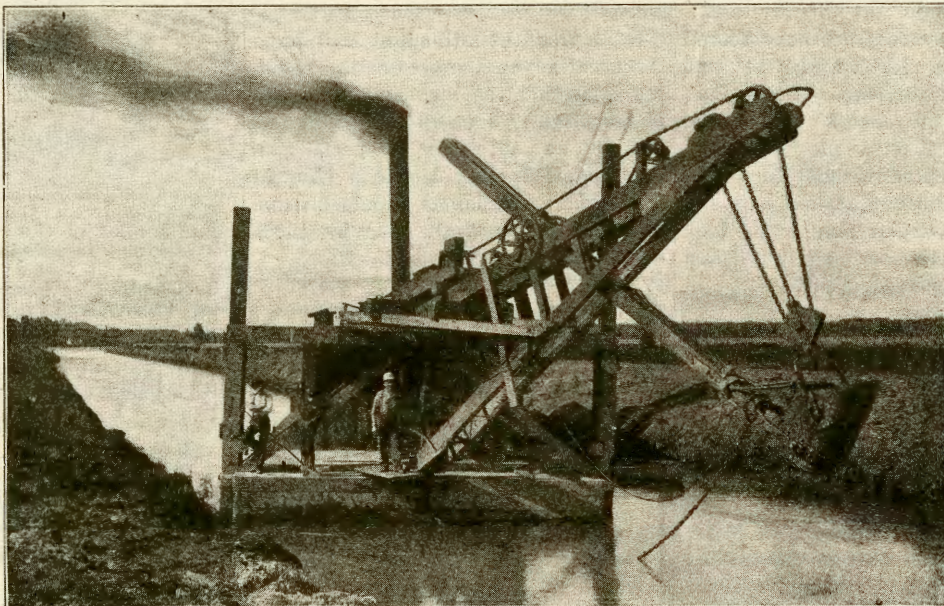

and soon the handkerchief was soaked full of blood. And yet I had that hand pressed right against his nose all the time I had him around my neck.

"I dislike to see a trainer beat an animal on the head with club or revolver. It soon ruins the beast's intelligence, and that leaves them without any intelligence between them."

Arnoldo will today and the rest of the week give two or three performances a day, the admission being ten cents.

Opening of Model School.

A model school, a new feature of the Winona Summer Schools, and one of interest to mothers who are visiting at the Park, will be opened next week. It will be in Mrs. Eliza A. Blaker's department, and it will serve two purposes. One will be to show public school teachers who are taking the work what a model school should crowds might see the animals in their big, barred cage. Long before 4 o'clock, when the show was to open, people were packed about the entrance to the tent waiting to get in. There were as many women and men as there were children, and it required but a few minutes to fill the tent when it was opened. Although the tent has seats for about 500 people, the place was packed and many stood. Meanwhile, another tentful of men, women and children waited outside for the extra performance, given at 4:30.

Sig. Arnoldo is a producer of thrills and a smasher of traditions. As a tamer and trainer of wild beasts, he speaks authoritatively, and says that the well-founded idea that animals are made ferocious by the smell and taste of human blood is nothing but a delusion. He has shed enough of his own blood in their presence to know, he contends, and some of the stories he tells—in fact most of his stories

These uniformed 'trainers' are mostly fakirs and what seemed to be a mystery in my act in Buffalo is very simple. The panther was an actor—that was all. Why, that fellow was my best friend, the tamest of all the animals in the Bostock show, only he knew his business and, when it came for the act he would apparently fly into a rage and snarl and growl and try to tear me to pieces. Then I would grab him and wrap him around my neck and, of course, his acting had the effect of making my act a thousand per cent better. My, but that panther was a fine actor. I don't expect to ever find another like him.

"And it was in Buffalo that I had an experience with this same panther that proved that there is nothing in the belief that animals are maddened by the smell and taste of human blood. In play the panther had scratched a vein open in one of my hands. It bled so profusely that I wrapped my hand in a handkerchief be. The tuition is free to children, and the school will serve another purpose by opening to the little folks an opportunity to make up any work lost in school last winter. It is the general opinion that summer vacations of public schools are of such length that many of the pupils, when a new year opens, have forgotten what they learned in the previous year. The model school will give them whatever "catching" they may need in this direction.

The model school will be in session from one and one half to two hours in the morning, so that there will be no drudgery for the children.

The teachers in the model school will be Miss Mary Eckman, a public school teacher in first grade work, who will be the instructor in the model first and second grades, and Miss Julia Fried, an institute lecturer and practical primary teacher, will be the instructor of the third and fourth grades.

REFORMER AT WINONA LAKE.

Senator LaFollette, of Wisconsin, Will Lecture at Auditorium Tonight.

Another speaker on the Civic Week program is to appear at the Winona auditorium tonight. He is Senator Robert LaFollette, former Governor of Wisconsin. He has served a term in Congress and has long been in public life. He has been identified with the reform wave that has been sweeping the country, and he has been a maker of sentiment against graft in public office and strong in his advocacy of clean citizenship. He has turned to the lecture platform further to stimulate and arouse the citizens of the United States to a sense of their obligations to themselves their countrymen and to the government, and to point out to the common people the power they have to right many of the prevailing wrongs, if they will but exercise their might along intelligent lines.

SENATOR LA FOLLETTE.

The attention given to the early speakers on the Civic Week program indicate that interest in this, the first week of the Assembly, is keen. The "reform Governors" are all yet to appear at Winona. Following Governor LaFollette, Governor Hanly, of Indiana, is to speak at 2:30 p. m., Friday, and at 2 on Saturday afternoon, Governor Folk, of Missouri, will deal with important questions of civic life. Eugene V. Debs, the socialistic leader, will be at Winona tomorrow evening.

Goshen and Warsaw—No games.

In a game marked by hard hitting and fast fielding, Winona lost the first game of the Interurban League to Milford at Winona Park yesterday morning, by a score of 3 to 1. Both teams had one or more men on bases in each inning and sensational catches, fast doubles and long hits kept the crowd on its feet throughout the game. There was nothing doing in the scoring line until the sixth, although both teams came close several times, but were cut off by sharp work.

Milford scored first blood. Miles sent a high one to left which came between the sun and Dickey, who accordingly dropped it, and Oppenheim scored Miles with a two bagger. In the eighth, Felkner got a double and scored on another high one in left, which went through the fielder. In the ninth Ogden singled, went to second on a fielder's choice, and scored on Clayton's hard drive, which managed to get away from Vaughn.

In the last half Winona made its single tally. Thomas dropped one in front of the plate and was safe at first, when Betts failed to stick to Felkner's throw. Diddel came to bat and drove the horsehide so far out in left that he was roosting on third by the time the ball was relayed back to the diamond.

Thomas went into the game with a sore arm but kept the hits well scattered. Milford would not have scored a single run on eleven hits if his support had been gilt-edged. Diddel had a busy day in center with nine chances, several of them hard ones, which he accepted without an error. For the visitors C. Miles was the bright and particular star as he took in everything in his territory and backed up in perfect style.

A NEW MISSION PROGRAM.

Conference of Foreign Workers for Two Days in August.

The provisional program of the Foreign Missionary conference that is to be held at Winona Lake, August 22 and 23, has been issued by Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman. The conference will be for leaders, laborers and learners in the mission cause. Many prominent names are on the program.

Two profitable general conferences on Foreign Missions have been previously held at Winona. One was held in August, 1904, and another in August, 1905. These were fruitful of good results notwithstanding their more or less extemporized character. This year, however, for the first time, the Central District will convene under its own auspices with a carefully prepared program.

One day will be given to conference pure and simple, where the most important and practical questions and problems will be discussed and deliberated upon in a free and faithful manner. This first day's meeting will be held in the Daguerre Building, and will begin Wednesday morning, August 22, at 8 o'clock, and continue until 5 o'clock, with two hours intermission at noon.

The second day will be a platform presentation of Foreign Missions, and will be in the auditorium, being known as Foreign Missionary Day of the Winona Bible Conference. This is the second year Dr. Chapman has given the Foreign Missionary cause a most prominent place on the program of the Winona Bible Conference.

Some of the greatest men of the country have been secured to present great themes on this great day of the Winona Bible Conference feast. At least four full hours will be occupied by such choice expositors for Foreign Missions as Dr. Henry C. Mabie, of Boston, and Dr. Hunter Corbett, of China, Moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly, and others. If it is possible to attend this Missionary Conference, no foreign missionary leader, laborer or learner ought to be absent.

Of course the attendant will have the great advantage also of this meeting being held at the same time and place of the Winona Bible Conference. The one day set aside for special conference on Foreign Missions (August 22, Daguerre Building) should be conscientiously set aside also by those who would be benefited by it.

GOLD BONDS

Of the Winona Interurban Railway Co.

Nine months ago we offered to the friends of Winona the bonds of the Warsaw-Goshen Division of the Winona Interurban System, and every available bond has been disposed of, the division is built and in operation. To build the division from Warsaw to Peru, Ind., a distance of 42 miles, the Company now offers Five Per Cent Gold Bonds, interest payable March 31 and September 1, in denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100. The stock of the Company belongs in its entirety to Winona Assembly, being held in trust for it by the board of directors. By the purchase of an old right-of-way of the Wabash railroad only 33 miles of the Peru Division will have to be constructed. The power house, costing $300,000, is already built at Winona Lake. The whole system from Goshen to Peru, over 70 miles, is to have the best equipment for passenger and freight service, and will give direct trolley connection with cities of Northern Indiana, Southern Michigan, the Wabash Valley, the Indiana Gas Belt, Indianapolis and Central Indiana.

The bonds of the Peru Division contain none of the elements of speculation or "frenzied finance." They are safe and sound for investors of small means, or large. It is expected that these bonds will find as ready sale as those of the Goshen-Warsaw Division.

Full particulars relative to the bonds will be sent on request.
