SECOND ASSEMBLY WEEK

Sermons, Lectures, Entertainments
Which Will Be Heard—Opening of Summer School.

The second week of Winona Assembly, which begins Sunday, July 8, will be marked by many events of general interest in the way of musical affairs

University of Chicago, will speak on "The Church and Education."

The first of the daily summer school convocations will be held on next Monday afternoon, when there will be an address by Dr. Coulter, and greetings by President S. C. Dickey, Principal C. M. McDaniel and Vice Principal Mrs. Eliza A. Blaker.

Col. Isaac Brown, "the bird and bee man," will come to Winona for the summer and will speak on Tuesday afternoon. Every morning he will lead bird lovers to the woods of Wi-

York, will have especial value to all students of the Scriptures.

Prof. F. C. Tilden will speak next Wednesday afternoon on "The Romantic Movement in Literature." Prof. George H. Tapy will be heard on Friday afternoon, when his subject will be "Jesus, the Teacher."

Frederick Warde, foremost among the interpreters of the Shakespearean drama of today, will come to Winona to give a reading on the evening of July 12. The purpose of Mr. Warde's lectures is to encourage and simplify

ernor Hanly in Audience.

One of the largest audiences since the Assembly season opened was in the auditorium last night to hear Senator Robert LaFollette, of Wisconsin, and entertainments. The regular summer population of the Park will be largely increased, for the summer schools and the Winona Bible School will open to continue through six weeks.

On next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, the sermon will be by Dr. G. N. Luccock, pastor of one of the leading Presbyterian churches, of Chicago. Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman will lead the Hillside service at 6:30 and in the evening at the young people's meeting, Dr. John M. Coulter, of the nona, and through the season he will take an active interest in instructing mothers and children on the habits of native birds.

The Winona Woman's Club will on Wednesday of next week hold the first of a series of meetings, for which a number of features are being planned.

Through the week the lectures to the summer school students will be on a high order, and these affairs will be open to all visitors at the Park. The morning Bible Hour, under the leadership of Dr. W. W. White, of New York, will have especial value to all students of the Scriptures. They are the result of a lifetime's devotion to the study of the subject and association with the master minds who have represented the marvellous creations of the poet upon the stage.

Mr. Warde's lectures differ from the speaking on "Representative Government." It was an audience which was eager to hear this pioneer in reforms and it was one which laughed heartily at the humor of the speaker and applauded his oratory.

Governor J. Frank Hanly introduced the speaker, when Mr. Hanly said: "It is always a pleasure to come to Winona. I never saw it as beautiful as it is today. There has been occasion in recent years for the American people to right-about face. I know of no man who has more to do with showing the people how to right-about face than the gentleman who is to address you tonight. He says what he believes and believes what he says. Some way, some how, when men are needed they are always to be found." Governor Hanly spoke of the reform workers in various states and cities, and said: "But the pioneer leader in the work lives in Wisconsin. He won recognition as Governor LaFollette, and it is as Governor that we know him best."

During his speech, Mr. LaFollette gave about all of his attention to the corruption found in national, state and municipal government and the abuse of corporate power. He spoke of the achievements of this country in the last century in establishing schools, temples of art, churches and happy homes, and what the country had won in its wars—how it had all been wrought out of what a hundred years ago was a wilderness.

"Notwithstanding all of the material progress," he said, "the American people are confronted with the greatest peril of any time in the history of their country. There is not a state in this Union where the people are justly taxed. The great corporations and combinations of wealth are shouldering off a share of their burdens on the taxpayers. The railroads are imposing taxes on the people unjustly and imposing a greater burden than our forefathers ever suffered."

He said that the people of this country pay $700,000,000 a year in taxes for the support of the government and pay three times this amount to the transportation companies. "The arbitrary control of the market price of corn, iron, light and fuel," he said, "is as much a tyranny now as ever prevailed in the time of King George. The hour has come for the people to make a new declaration of independence from the control of corporate influence."

He told of the start of his reform work in Wisconsin, when he made an address in 1894, when the key note was: "The basic principle of this government is the will of the people." "They said I was a populist, a socialist, a demagogue," said the Senator. He took the view that the source of power is in the people, and that they are the source of government. "Is the will of the people supreme?" he asked. "Look in your great cities. Look in your legislatures. Does the will of the people prevail in Congress? Corporate wealth controls wherever it puts forth its power to control. Look at corruption in every department of the government. The people of the country have a greater contest than they dream of to take possession of the government again."

Senator LaFollette paused in his address to ask Governor Hanly if Indiana has a law against the acceptance of railroad passes.

"We think we have," Governor Hanly replied, shaking with laughter, and the great audience laughed heartily with him.

"I'm glad to hear it," Senator La

Follette said. "We have such a law in Wisconsin and it is in our constitution to prevent every officer from Governor to notary of public from accepting a railroad pass."

Going back to his subject, he said: "The great corporations have grown up between the people and the people's representatives, and the corporations exercise a potent influence upon the representatives. "The source of the trouble is business—big business. There is not an important line that is not controlled by a combination. You can not sell the pork and beef from an Indiana farm in the open market, because there are no open markets. The same is true of grain. The railroads robbed the people of the hard coal lands of Pennsylvania. When you have but one way to get your products to market, and but one way to get supplies home from the market, you are at the mercy of the railroads."

The prediction was made that if present conditions continue, the time will come when a Rockefeller many times richer than the Rockefeller of today will own the railroads and the farms of this country. He spoke of the attempt of railroads to get control of the soft coal lands in eleven states and said he believed that before long President Roosevelt will take it upon himself to order the withdrawal from sale of the government coal lands of Indian Territory to keep the lands from falling into the hands of the railroads.

"The hour has come," the Wisconsin Senator said, "for the people of his country to awaken to the danger of handing over to their children to a sort of bondage."

Mr. LaFollette left Winona by an early train this morning.

Senator LaFollette and Governor Hanly reached the Lake about noon, traveling from Chicago. They took a ride about the Park, with which Governor Hanly was already familiar, in company with President Kane and Dr. Dickey, that Senator LaFollette might see the extent of this summering place. Mr. LaFollette, well worn from his work in Washington, spent most of the day while here resting. Governor Hanly returned to the state after an absence of several days, and about the first thing he asked for was copies of Indiana newspapers, that he might "post up" on events that had taken place while he had been away on a speaking tour. After obtaining a number of newspapers, he tilted back in a big, comfortable rocker on the wind swept veranda of the Winona hotel, and read the papers closely for some time.

Governor Hanly seemed particularly interested in what the newspapers had to say concerning the raid made on the gambling quarters at French Lick, but would not discuss the topic.

Senator LaFollette and Governor Hanly had dinner together at the Winona Hotel, and last evening Mr. Hanly's secretary, Fred Gemmer, brought before the chief executive the most important business matters which had accumulated during his absence.

CIVIC WEEK SPEAKERS

Governors Hanly and Folk and Eugene V. Debs Are Yet to Be Heard.

Three important speakers are yet to be heard on the Winona Civic Week program. Governor J. Frank Hanly will speak here this afternoon, his address beginning at 2:30 o'clock. No state Governor of the United States has been winning more attention or more public approval than

GOVERNOR HANLY.

Governor Hanly in his untiring efforts to advance the cause of good citizenship in his own commonwealth. He is a Governor who has risen from the ranks of the common people; he is an eloquent speaker, and he has a message of high value which he will deliver to those who hear him at Winona.

Eugene V. Debs, leader of the socialists of this country, speaks at the auditorium tonight. His address will in large measure be an answer to the anti-socialistic address of Dr. Frank Dixon, made at the auditorium earlier in the week. If Dr. Dixon sees little good in the socialistic idea, Mr. Debs thinks that it is the method which the laboring element of this country must employ to raise their social standard.

Governor Joseph B. Folk, of Missouri, closes the Civic Week program with an address on tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. He will speak upon questions of public policy.

Mrs. Theodosia Van Doozer, of Chicago, will be the entertainer at the auditorium tomorrow night, when she will give a reading during the concert of the Rogers' Band and Orchestra.

On Thursday mornings the Western College girls of the Park have arranged to meet on the different porches of the girls' homes to improve the time in sewing and having a "good time." The girls met with the Misses Burhans at the Henderson cottage yesterday.

THE BOOK OF GENESIS.

Subject of Prof. Palmer at the Bible Hour Yesterday Morning.

Prof. Palmer, of the Winona Bible School, led in the study at the 11 o'clock Bible Hour yesterday. A study of the book of Genesis was the lesson from which Prof. Palmer took the key thought. "In the beginning God." Prof. Palmer emphasized the statement that the lesson was, of necessity, a surface study of the book of Genesis. This book appeals so strongly to the men and women of today because of its characters being mentioned so frequently and so prominently in the New Testament and because of its time.

Prof. Palmer said in part: "God wants us to know in this book, which He inspired, that He is at the beginning of redemption, at the beginning of the family, and at the beginning of everything in the universe."

There are three leading promises in the book of Genesis: "Am I my brother's keeper," "Noah did according to all that the Lord commanded," and "I am thy shield and thy exceeding great reward." There are six leading characters in the book of Genesis: Adam, second to fourth chapters; Noah, sixth to ninth chapters; Abraham, twelfth to fourteenth chapters; Isaac, twenty-first to twenty-fifth chapters; Jacob, twenty-fifth to forty-ninth; Joseph, thirty-seventh to fiftieth. Jacob receives the greatest prominence, because God wishes to emphasize the change in the man who was weak, and who became strong—just as in the New Testament Peter is the most prominent of the disciples.

Prof. Palmer gave the following list of the most important chapters in Genesis and the names applied to them: First, Creation; second, Sabbath and Home; third, Temptation and Fall; fourth, Cain and Abel; fifth and tenth, Genealogy; sixth and eighth, Flood; twelfth, Abraham; eighteenth, Prayer for Solomon; twenty-second, Sacrifice of Isaac; thirty-second, Jacob Wrestling With the Angel; thirty-seventh, Joseph; forty-ninth, Blessings of God.

Prof. Palmer closed with the thought that the great lesson to be taught from the book is the sovereignty of God. Too often we magnify the I and spell God with the little letter. If there is one thing besides redemption that the Bible wishes to make prominent it is the sovereignty of God and the book of Genesis teaches this great truth in a wonderful way.

Dog and Pony Show.

That children, their aunts, uncles, grandmothers and grandfathers, are interested in animal shows has been evident this week by the large numbers at the performances of the leopards and jaguars. Next week another show along similar lines will be given at Winona Park. It will be Schepp's dog and pony show, which on Monday will begin giving two performances a day, the engagement to last a week. Schepp's dogs perform a long list of feats in which canine intelligence has been developed to an unusual degree. The ponies give military drills and go through many graceful formations. The show will be in the large tent, near Duke's fountain, and the performances will be so low in price as to make them popular with the little folks.

Miss Gregory's Readings.

Miss May Gregory appeared at the auditorium yesterday afternoon with the Rogers' Band and Orchestra, when a delightful program was given. Miss Gregory has been a pupil of Montaville Flowers, who comes soon to Winona, at his academy in Cincinnati, and she pleased the audience highly. The program given at the concert follows:

First part—Band.

March—"Uncle Sammy" (Holzman).
Aria from "Stabat Mater" (Rossini), solo for trombone—Mr. Remick.

Descriptive—"A Day in the Cotton Fields" (Smith and Zublin).

Reading—"Wanted, a Divorce," Miss May Gregory.

Second part—Orchestra.

March—"La Revue des Clowns" (Laurendeau).

Selection—"Bohemian Girl" (Balfe).

Reading—"Moo, Cow, Moo," Miss May Gregory.

"Hearts and Flowers" (Tobani).

The next local game of the Winona Interurban Baseball League will be played at Winona Lake at 3:15 p. m., tomorrow. The game will be between the Winona and Goshen clubs.

WINONA MUSICAL EVENTS

Rogers' Band, Mary Angell, Chicago
Pianiste, the Roney Boys and Others Next Week.

The musical affairs of Winona Assembly next week will include both quality and quantity. The Rogers' Winona Bany and Symphony Orchestra will continue its day and evening programs and with it will appear some special entertainers. The Rogers organization has for a week been demonstrating that it is superior in many ways to the band of that name which has played at Winona in other years. It has twenty-five men, who play as readily and as skillfully in a brass band as they do in an orchestra, and they are young players of genuine musical temperament.

The Rogers band and orchestra is made up of musicians from many parts of the country. Some of them are from symphony orchestras, some are from musical conservatories, and others are from the best bands and orchestras of the larger cities. Practically every man is a soloist, and their ability as such will be demonstrated upon many occasions before the band closes its month's engagement.

Roney's Boys Concert Company comes to Winona Lake next week to give a program on the evening of Monday, July 9, and on the afternoon of the following day. This company of highly trained boy singers won much favor from Winona audiences last year and have been well received in the larger cities of the country.

The company sang at a Christmas party given by President and Mrs. Roosevelt last year and the Washington Post said of the affair:

"The largest White House party and quite the most interesting of many years took place yesterday afternoon, when, in response to Mrs. Roosevelt's invitations, sent out some ten days ago, 500 children gathered in the East room to listen to Roney's Boys Concert Company of Chicago, and later to partake of ice cream frozen in the shape of Santa Claus and other Christmas novelties, the party closing with a dance in the East room. The Roney Boys, five in number, who came from Chicago on the invitation of Mrs. Roosevelt, wore various fancy costumes—French Court, Highland Scottish, patriotic, cardinal college gowns, choir vestments, and uniforms—and the program would have done credit to any stage. During the music the President entered the room, taking an inconspicuous seat near the Green room entrance. He entered thoroughly into the spirit of the occasion and enjoyed every minute of the entertainment."

One of the musical features of the coming week will be the piano recitals of Miss Mary Angell, of Chicago, who will appear with the Rogers' orchestra on July 9, 11, 13 and 14, all of them in the afternoon, except the recital of the 11th, which will be given in the evening.

Miss Angell has played during the past year in the large cities of the South and the Middle West with signal success, but she is new to Indiana audiences. Music lovers and critics receive her enthusiastically. She has been engaged for return appearances in the cities where she has played in the last year.

The Chicago Evening Post said of a recital she gave in that city: "At Music Hall last night Mary Angell displayed temperal qualities of unmistakable value. In her playing of the Schumann Romanza and the Schubert song there was a depth of feeling and beautiful singing tone which are only produced by those players in whom the artistic element predominates. In the bravura passages and rapid finger work she was remarkably accurate and her execution was vivid, clear and brilliant."

The Madison, Wis., Democrat said of Miss Angell's appearance in Madison: "Mary Angell demonstrated her skill as a pianiste of rare ability. Brilliant technique and delicate touch, full of expression and yet of remarkable power and volume of tone impress one with the degree of talent she possesses."

Montville Flowers, one of the best entertainers who comes to Winona, will be at the Park again next week, on July 12 and 13. He may be here with Mrs. Flowers for several days' vacation. Mr. Flowers fairly bubbles with drollery and is a clever impersonator of many characters.

stilted and stereotyped methods of the average platform speaker. He delivers his remarks with a simple and direct, yet dramatic and impressive, force, frequently illustrating his points with quotations from the various plays. They are entertaining and interesting and abound in flashes of wit and humor.

The Portland Oregonian said of his appearance in that city: "Frederick Warde is not only one of the ripest Shakespearean scholars in this country, but he is a speaker of great power and interest. To hear him lecture, especially when he takes his theme from the works of the Immortal Bard, is almost as great a treat as to see him act, and his generous readiness to step from the stage to the platform to help any worthy object is one of the causes of his exceptional popularity with the intelligent and cultured people of this community. He is one of the very few actors who think more of their art and its promotion than of themselves and their personal convenience. Off the stage he is a courteous, genial gentleman, living quietly and decently as a gentleman should, and in leisure hours cultivating those graces of mind and character which come only from study, reflection and ennobling associations. In every city in the country where he is known he is admired."

Frank Roberson, one of the most tireless globe trotters, comes to Winona Lake on Saturday, July 14, to lecture. Mr. Roberson seeks out nooks and crannies of the earth which the average traveler and sight-seer does not find, or overlooks, and his lecture will be made up of information of queer people and places he has seen.

Prof. Ernest Fennellosa, who was to come to Winona Lake next week to begin a series of twenty five lectures on Oriental and European art, has sent word to the Assembly management that owing to his physical condition he will be unable to carry out his work here as he had planned. He may come to Winona later in the summer for a week or two, but he will not undertake to carry out an extensive program while here.

The Prayer Meeting.

"I have set the Lord always before me: because He is at my right hand, I shall not be moved," was the subject of Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman's message that stirred the audience last evening at prayer meeting. This eighth verse from the sixteenth Psalm, Dr. Chapman said, is the secret of a victorious life. The praise service was conducted by Mr. Allen. Rev. Dr. Torrey, of Terre Haute, and Dr. Hunter Corbett, of Chefoo, China, led in prayer.

Sunday School Mission Workers Will Hold Conference at Winona Lake
—Work of W. H. Hess.

Arrangements have just been completed for a meeting of the representatives of the Central District of the American Sunday School Union at Winona during the August Bible Conference. There are thirty-five workers expected, and they are to make headquarters at the Golf Club house. There will be no public meetings, just a conference of the workers, who have not met for four years. The Central District includes Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Western Pennsylvania.

The headquarters of the Interde-

Sunday School in a blacksmith shop. The result of this organization is a neat little chapel which Mr. Hess hopes to dedicate during the Bible Conference.

This house to house work is done in the gospel wagon, which bears the banner, "A Bible in Every Home," and Mr. Hess is not only supplied with song books by E. A. K. Hackett, but Mr. Hackett also started the movement which furnished Mr. Hess with horse, harness and wagon.

Children See the Leopards.

Arnoldo and his trained animals are having a successful week at Winona Park. Afternoon and evening performances will be given today and one Saturday afternoon will close the engagement here. The leopards and jaguars give a performance that is especially pleasing to children, and the price of admission is down to ten cents, which nominal Sunday School Union is at Philadelphia, and was organized in 1824, the present superintendent being W. A. Hillis, of Cleveland. This organization is supported entirely by free-will offerings.

Indiana has nine workers and W. H. Hess, who resides at Winona, is a resident missionary who has charge of ten counties. Mr. Hess says that the Union in no way conflicts with the state organization; that his method is a house-to-house visitation, and in his seven years' work in northern Indiana he has given away over five hundred Bibles in families which had no copy of the book.

Mr. Hess says that he finds great spiritual destitution in this county—many children never having been to Sunday School.

There are five beautiful leopards and two jaguars, and Arnoldo has a name for each one of them. They are playful with each other and with their trainer and respond readily when he commands that they arrange themselves in an arch over the mimic cabin door in the big cage where the performances are given, or to roll a big ball about the stage and perform a number of other feats.

Prof. Frank C. Tilden, professor of English at Winona, has just closed a series of lectures to a class at Warsaw that met every Tuesday evening at the home of Judge and Mrs. Royse. This class will be reorganized next fall with Prof. Tilden as teacher.
