WINONA-PERU GAME 0 TO 0

On the Peru High School Gridiron
Last Saturday Winona Academy
Fought Scoreless Game.

Winona Academy 0, Peru High School 0, was the score at the end of two hard fought halves at Peru last Saturday. The Winona team had a little the advantage in weight and while they were on the aggressive most of the time the Peru players were able to keep Winona from scoring. Winona should have won with ease but lack of team work due to insufficient practice made the team weak.

The first half started with Peru kicking off to Winona. By a series of line bucks and end runs the ball was carried to the center of the field where Winona was held for downs and the ball went over.

Peru failed to make its gain and Winona got possession of the ball, but were compelled to punt. Here there was an exchange of punts and Peru finally got possession of the ball at the center of the field. Peru gained about twenty yards and were held for downs. Winona carried the ball to Peru's thirty-five-yard line where they lost the ball on downs. Peru punted, but the ball was fumbled and a Peru man fell on it on Winona's forty-yard line. Peru carried the ball to the thirty-yard line, when time was called.

The second half started by Winona kicking off to Peru. Peru failed to make its gain and punted. Winona got possession of the ball on their own thirty-yard line and started up the field. They were held for downs on Peru's twenty-five yard line. Peru carried the ball back about twenty yards and were forced to punt.

All during the second half Peru was on the defensive most of the time and Winona was in striking distance of its opponent's goal several times, but each time Peru would take a brace and hold Winona for downs. The game ended with Winona on Peru's five-yard line.

The Academy's next game will be with Warsaw on Thanksgiving day.

So for to-morrow and its needs

I do not pray.

But keep, guide and love me, Lord,
Just for to-day.

A Narrow Escape.

Vivian and Virginia Murray are two interesting children of the Winona population, and their home is the attractive brown bungalow, The Idlewild, overlooking the lake from the picturesque terrace near the Winona hotel. They are favorites with all who know them. Their faces always beaming with smiles, and their gowns tidy and clean, excite remark and admiration from mothers whose offspring are less immaculate in their attire. But this is not the story we intended to tell in this article, but an incident that befell the little tots one day last week. Vivian, the older one, was playing near the gas stove in the cottage, when her clothing took fire from readers, who formed the acquaintance of these children during the past summer will, we are sure, rejoice with their parents in the fortunate escape from danger that seemed so imminent.

Warsaw Presbyterian Brotherhood.

The Presbyterian Brotherhood of Warsaw was fully organized at Winona last week.

The officers of the organization are James R. Frazer, president; Leonard Dickey, vice president; Dr. Frank L. Patterson, secretary; Ted Donaldson, treasurer, and Rev. E. H. Montgomery, chaplain.

The Brotherhood was organized as a result of the visit of Attorney Stitt, of Wabash, a member of the Wabash

AGGIES TOOK THE GAME

Winona Player Distinguished Himself on Offensive—Warsaw Lost by Score of 21 to 0.

Loose playing in the first half of the game with the Winona Agricultural-Normal school eleven on the Riverview gridiron Saturday afternoon lost the contest for the Warsaw high school team. The final score was 21 to 0 in favor of Winona. In the last half the home team took a brace and held the visitors. This half ended with Warsaw in possession of the oval on Winona's three-yard line. A few seconds and Warsaw would have prevented a blank score.

Five minutes after the game was called Bergdall, for Winona was given the sphere on his own 25-yard line, and spurring around the end he tore through the Warsaw players and went the full length of the field for the first touchdown. He gained an advantage in a fake play, which surprised the Warsaw boys. Shaffer, of Winona, a short time later distinguished himself in a spectacular run of 50 yards for a touchdown. Bergdall, for Winona, made the next touchdown on a 20-yard run, following a succession of line bucks that netted short gains each time. Shaffer carried the oval 60 yards to a position behind the goal posts, but was obliged to bring it back to the center of the field following a dispute. Bergdall scored the third touchdown. The first half ended with the score 16 to 0.

In the second half Levy, for Winona touched the ball over. Warsaw took a brace in this half, and with similar playing in the first half the home team would probably have won the game. Johnson proved a star on offense, as did Thrush and Netter. The open playing in the Warsaw line, so prominent in the first half was not noticeable in the second half. Teal, Smith, Netter and Thrush are credited with making several sensational tackles. The line-up and summary:

too close contact with the stove. The flames spread rapidly, and more than half of the wearing apparel was consumed before her father, who chanced to be in the room, succeeded in extinguishing the fire. With remarkable presence of mind he threw her upon the floor and smothered the flames with the rug. Virginia, witnessing the unusual proceeding, and interpreting it as a new form of amusement, joined the excited pair, and the danger was increased by the igniting of her dress also. The frightened child started for the door, but was restrained by Mr. Murray, who promptly rescued both children from the flames, and averted a disaster. Hundreds of The Review's

The purposes of the organization as given in the constitution are to better the members and the community. It is not necessary that the members be church members. The constitution makes no demands as to religious belief.

A Stinging Rebuke.

President Roosevelt has read a stinging rebuke to those who base their opinion of a candidate for public service upon his views of religion or upon his denominational relations. He says: "To discriminate against a thoroughly upright citizen because he belongs to some particular church, or because, like Abraham Lincoln, he has not avowed his allegiance to any church, is an outrage against that liberty of conscience which is one of the foundations of American life. You are entitled to know whether a man seeking your suffrages is a man of clean and upright life, honorable in all his dealings with his fellows, and fit by qualification and purpose to do well in the great office for which he is a candidate, but you are not entitled to know matters which lie purely between himself and his Maker."

What is a Saloon?

From a man in the penitentiary, who was sentenced there for a crime which he committed while drunk:
A bar of heaven, a door to hell;
Whoever named it, named it well.
A bar of manliness and wealth,
A door to want and broken health;
A bar to honor, pride and fame,
A door to sin and grief and shame;
A bar to hope, a bar to prayer,
A door to darkness and despair;
A bar to honored and useful life,
A door to brawling, senseless strife;
A bar to all things true and brave,
A door to every drunkard's grave,
A bar to joy that home imparts,
A door to tears and broken hearts;
A bar to heaven, a door to hell;
Whoever named it, named it well.

Winonians who have not been patronizing the "Review box" at the south entrance of the grocery are urged to do so. Items of interest oftentimes escape the notice of the editorial staff, and the Review editor will appreciate any "tips" given or notes or articles written and placed in the Review box.

Watched Fifteen Years.

"For fifteen years I have watched the working of Bucklen's Arnica Salve; and it has never failed to cure any sore, boil, ulcer or burn to which it was applied. It has saved us many a doctor bill," says A. F. Hardy, of East Wilton, Maine. 25c at Chas. Shroyer's drug store.

THE TRUE FRIEND.

I always like to meet the man
Who does not cut and run
Or look for all the world as though
He wished he had a gun
Because I take him by the hand
And lead him off alone,
Far from the prying eyes of men,
And ask him for a loan.

Not in the compliments of speech,
Though words may do their best;
Not in the sweet and honeyed phrase
Does friendship find a test.
That friendship is the solid stuff
And has the surest ring
That reaches for its pocketbook
And simply says, "Sure thing."

The average man begins to hedge
And looks around to find
Some way that he can dodge a touch
And still seem almost kind,
And the excuses that he makes
Would shame a pirate crew
Before he pulls a nickel out
And asks if that will do.

It makes a fellow feel so good
To have another say,
"Yes, I can let you have a five,"
In such a friendly way
As though he were the favored one.
That friend is well worth while
Who meets you halfway on a touch
And does it with a smile.

India's Fame.

They were holding an "exam" in an east London school, and the teacher was explaining the chief products of the Indian empire. One child recited a list of comestibles. "Please, miss, India produces curries and pepper and citron and chillies and chutney and—" "Yes, yes, and what comes after that?" "Please, miss, I don't remember." "Yes, but think. What is India so famous for?" "Please, 'm. India-gestion."

Makes Fortune After 70.

Burton J. Hendrick, in McClure's magazine, says that the Vanderbilt fortune, once the greatest financial power in the United States, probably amounts at the present moment, to not far from $300,000,000. Of this, William Kissam Vanderbilt, who controls the majority of the family properties, holds in the neighborhood of $100,000,000, while twelve or fifteen descendants of the commodore share among themselves the remaining $200,000,000.

Perhaps the most remarkable fact in the whole remarkable career of Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt is that he did his really important work and heaped up his enormous fortune after he was 70 years old. He was born in 1794, and almost all his energies, until the outbreak of the civil war, had been absorbed in the management of his numerous steamboat and steamship lines. Cornelius Vanderbilt, when running his steamboats up and down the Hudson river, had felt keenly the competition of the railroad along its eastern shore. Later developments led him clearly to perceive, what most of his contemporaries saw only faintly, that transportation in this country would follow the line, not of the canal and the river, but of the steel rail. As soon as he had caught this glimpse of the future, Vanderbilt characteristically acted upon it. Fifty years before, foreseeing the possibilities of steam travel by water, he had sold his whole sailing fleet and purchased steamboats; acting just as promptly now, he sold all his water craft and began purchasing railroads.

Nervous Prostration

"I suffered so with Nervous Prostration that I thought there was no use trying to get well. A friend recommended Dr. Miles' Nervine, and although skeptical at first, I soon found myself recovering, and am to-day well."

MRS. D. I. JONES,
5800 Broadway, Cleveland, O.

Much sickness is of nervous origin. It's the nerves that make the heart force the blood through the veins, the lungs take in oxygen, the stomach digest food, the liver secrete bile and the kidneys filter the blood. If any of these organs are weak, it is the fault of the nerves through which they get their strength. Dr. Miles' Nervine is a specific for the nerves. It soothes the irritation and assists in the generation of nerve force. Therefore you can hardly miss it if you take Dr. Miles' Nervine when sick. Get a bottle from your druggist. Take it all according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

EDWIN A. KNAPP, Editor and Manager

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1908.

The remarkable progress made in the cause of temperance in our own country, and elsewhere, naturally leads to an inquiry concerning the agencies that have brought about these salutary changes. Ethical and religious sentiment is, of course, a mighty moving power in awakening interest, and instituting reforms along these lines; but another factor has, in recent years, come into prominence, and is rapidly adding to the numbers of those who advocate total abstinence. The new force is the systematic dissemination of accurate knowledge of the baneful effects of alcohol on the physical body.

x x x

McClure's magazine, for many years a fearless champion of temperance, contains in the October number, a scholarly article from the pen of Dr. Henry Smith Williams, in which it is shown by a series of experiments that every function of the normal human body is injured by the use of alcohol—even the moderate use; and that the injury is both sedious and permanent.

x x x

One of the significant observations of beer and wine in dulling the faculties was made by a scientist, named Bayer. He made a personal investigation of the habits of 591 school children in Vienna. It was discovered that 134 of these pupils took no alcoholic drink; 164 drank occasionally; 219 drank wine or beer once a day; and three took drinks with every meal. Of the total abstainers 42 per cent. ranked in the school as good; of the daily drinkers only 28 per cent.; among the class that partook of stimulants twice daily 25 per cent.; and of the three who drank three times a day not one attained the position known as a good rank.

x x x

An experiment worthy of note in the article referred to above is that four typesetters in which it was clearly demonstrated that a worker would actually earn ten per cent. less on days when he consumed even a very small quantity of alcohol.

x x x

In examining into the history of 2554 idiotic, epileptic hysterical, or weak-minded children in an institution in France it was found that over 41 per cent. had alcoholic parents. Statistics relative to tuberculosis show according to this eminent authority, that a death rate of 76 per thousand among those who never touch alcohol stands ever against a death rate of 556 among those who indulge their appetites for alcoholic drinks. The per cent. of death per thousand in various vocations show the following figures: Gymnasium teachers, 126; physicians, 113; Protestant clergymen, 76; hotel keepers, 237; brewers, 344, and waiters, 556.

x x x

Other information equally as startling as the instances cited above are contained in Dr. Williams' exhaustive treatise, and every thinking individual is prompted to inquire, "can one afford to pay the excessive and inevitable price that accompanies the drink habit?"

x x x

Legislation is just now aiding victims of this tyranny to cast off the fetters that are menacing their lives; and the impulse toward temperance reformation is gaining momentum every day. Drunkards shall this and all the other relief methods with pronounced satisfaction; and the "dry" sentiment is becoming more popular as the theory is embodied in practical illustrations.

x x x

A drunk man is not a fit companion for decent humanity; and finds no traits of common fellowship with irrational animals.

x x x

The breath of a toper is a fountain of corruption, polluting the atmosphere in which he dwells.

x x x

Intoxication is not a "beastly" propensity. No beast would ever voluntarily drink.

x x x

Taking a little wine fort he stomach's sake necessitates taking something else for the stomach's ache.

x x x

Wine is a mocker, strong drink a brawler; and whosoever erreth thereby is not wise.

x x x

A reformed drunkard once explained how his resolution was strengthened when he passed a grog shop by changing the pronunciation of the sign from saloon to "sail on."

x x x

Oh, whiskey, damed device of man! No weapon since the world began Hath bruised so many hearts with pain, Or half so many victims slain. Thy mission is to steal, to kill, To ruin reason, weaken will, All noble feelings to suppress,

A Strong Fraternal Order.

The Knights of the Maccabees is a secret society, founded upon the principles embodied in the lives of a historical family of priests who lived in the second century, B. C. The persecutions of the Jewish nation and creed by Antiochus Epiphanes had driven terror into the hearts of that subjugated race, and they suffered from indignities and atrocities of every kind at the hands of their cruel tyrant. It was about the year 170 B. C. that the heroic family of Matathias, a priest of the house of the Asmoneans, rose, together with a few patriots, against the immense power of the Syrians. The national cause quickly gathered strength, and after the death of Matathias, 166 B. C., Judas Maccabeus his third son led the national host to victory against their oppressors. Under the leadership of this lion-hearted man an aggressive warfare was carried on, in which was displayed unparalleled bravery, and which resulted in the re-establishment of Jewish independence. In the battle of Mizpah a force of 70,000 was overcome by only 6,000 men headed by the valiant Maccabee; and in an engagement at Bethsur, 10,000 of these intrepid warriors completely routed an opposing army of 65,000. Such daring and fortitude on the part of this celebrated hero was deemed worthy the emulation of young men of the present century, and the founders of the popular benevolent institution that bears the title Knights of the Maccabees endeavor to instill ideas of bravery and patriotism in the members of this flourishing order. The commonly accepted abbreviation for the fraternity is K. O. T. M.

Would Furnish Books Free.

A committee of the association of Indiana state, city and town superintendents, in session at Indianapolis, has recommended that all text books used in the public schools be furnished free of charge, after the system now in effect in Ohio. The association adopted a resolution in regard to the payment made by townships on pupils sent to high schools outside the townships, and decided to refer it to the legislative committee. In presenting the matter, H. G. Brown, of Lebanon, said the average tuition expense of a pupil in a high school was more than $4 a month. The resolution set forth the increased cost of maintaining the high schools because of the rapid development and improvement, and that the maximum $2 a month a pupil for pupils transferred from other townships, now permitted by law, is not sufficient. It was advised in the resolution that this be increased to a point at which it would be equal to the average proportional expense a pupil of maintaining the high schools.

Financial.

"Put all your eggs in one basket and everlastingly watch that basket" is advice credited to Andrew Carnegie. How closely he follows this rule is shown by his having practically all his fortune invested in $303,000,000.00 of bonds of one company.

Russell Sage was another notable believer in concentration. At his death he had $7,197,000.00 invested in six bond issues and held $65,000 shares of stock, par value $6,500,000.00 in four companies.

The opinion is daily growing that in investments as in other things one may become "Jack of all trades, master of none"—that it is better to place ones surplus funds in a few investments with which he has made himself thoroughly familiar rather than place the "eggs" in too many "baskets" for which he has only a good general knowledge.

Each should be his own judge, thinking and acting for himself when making an investment. The advice of a "friend" or "financial adviser" is too frequently based upon prejudice without specific knowledge of the particular security considered or the counsel may be effected by personal interests—it is hard to advise one to place elsewhere money which the counselor would like to obtain, or retain, for some institution of his own.

Those having either large or small surplus earnings to invest can not do better than investigate the present opportunity for a safe six per cent (6%) Winona investment. Full information and every opportunity for thorough investigation, will be furnished those interested by the American Marketing company, Fiscal Agents, Winona Lake, Indiana.

Winona has an unbroken fourteen years' record of payment of all principal and interest due investors. The American Marketing company has a record of no loss of principal or interest on any securities which it has handled.

Bronson Changes Business.

William E. Bronsop, of Warsaw, has resigned his position as conductor with the Winona Interurban railway company to accept a position as representative of the State Life Insurance company of Indianapolis for Warsaw and surrounding territory. Mr. Bronson has many acquaintances in Warsaw and at Silver Lake and the south part of the county. He has had considerable experience and will no doubt make a success of his new position.

All the Letters of the Alphabet.

In the twenty-first verse of the seventh chapter of Ezra can be found every letter of the English alphabet. It runs thus: "And I, even I, Artaxerxes the king do make a decree to all the treasurers which are beyond the river that whatsoever Ezra the priest, the scribe of the law of the God of heaven, shall require of you, it be done speedily.

How Shall I Decide

WHERE TO SEND MY DAUGHTER TO SCHOOL is a question many parents are asking every year. If you are not informed about the

WINONA PARK SCHOOL FOR YOUNG WOMEN AT WINONA LAKE

it will help you to settle this momentous question if you will write and get one of its catalogues.

It is a Christian school with all the cultural advantages; and is under the direction of college trained women of recognized proficiency and experience.

The school is situated in the far-famed Winona Park, on the shores of a beautiful lake. Forest trees abound in a spacious campus; graceful walks lead to various points of interest; and countless springs of pure fresh water are to be found at frequent intervals throughout the inviting domains.

The natural environs of the Winona Park School are exceptionally attractive; but the feature that is most important and interesting is the high standard that is maintained in its curriculum. Graduates of the institution can enter without examination any college or university in the middle west, including fifteen states. Certificate privileges of Mt. Holyoke, and other Eastern institutions are enjoyed; and the rank of co-operating school has been given by the University of Chicago, which school also grants an annual scholarship to a graduate going out from Winona.

The program for last Wednesday evening was one of unusual merit and everyone who took a part deserves great credit for the evident care with which everything was prepared. The debate—"Resolved that Private Preparatory Schools are Better than Public High Schools" was decided in favor of the negative side which was presented by Kenneth Rider and Forrest Davis.

Program for November 11th is as follows:

Debate—"Resolved That the Study of Ancient Classic Languages is More Beneficial Than the Study of Modern Languages in Preparatory Schools." Affirmative: Wyckoff and Penhallow. Negative: Pledger and Faris. Joke Paper—Joe Stephenson and Harry Hawk.

The Nation's Best Christmas Gift Would be a Square Deal for Every Child.

What gift would I give to this country for its benefits and future welfare as a Christmas gift, were it in my power? says Mrs. Frederic Schoff, president of the National Congress of Mothers, in a symposium, "If I Were a National Santa Claus," in the December Delineator;—I would make it possible for every child to have a square deal all the time, every day, from infancy to manhood, in every home and in every kind of community.

How could this be done? The first requisite would be to provide the opportunity for every father and mother to learn more of what they owe their children; to appreciate and understand the physical and spiritual laws which must be followed if children are to come up to the highest possibilities of the race. I would prevent the sacrifice of infants' lives by providing clear, accurate instructions for every new mother in the physical requirements of babies. I would prevent the later sacrifice of health in schools and factories, by the education of every parent as to the permanent injury inflicted by overtaxing the organs which are yet in process of development. I would prevent juvenile crime by education of parents and the community in the provision of all that goes to develop the good qualities that exist in every child. Juvenile crime is a reflection on the methods and care given to children. It is preventable. Parental ignorance, crowded tenements, physical degeneracy and lack of space for play are contributing causes. The welfare of the children exceeds all other matters in its importance to the future welfare of the country. It is of national interest.

My gift to the country would be an endowment as large as is necessary to establish and conduct the national university for the welfare of the child with branches everywhere. The National Congress of Mothers has the work already under way. The help is eagerly sought to. It needs to be based on a permanent basis, with means to do the work in education for which, as yet no adequate provision has been made.

One From New Jersey.

A little miss was being put to bed one summer night, the first one that her parents had spent at a resort in New Jersey. And after she had said her prayers, her mother kissed her good night and said: "Now go right to sleep darling. Don't be afraid, for God's angels are watching over you." In about an hour, while the family were at tea, a small voice from the nursery was heard. "Mamma!" "Yes little one, what is it?" "God's angels are biting me!"

WINONA FARMER.

(Edited by Floyd Kilts.)

Elliott—"Indeed, who is the other one?"

Plant your cucumbers in the full moon.

Ballard, Schaffer, Lutz and several others were home to vote.

There is a rumor afloat that Ballard is due for a free ride to Warsaw.

Dornbusch—"There are a couple of awful bores belong to this society."

Mr. Paff, '10, was home the first part of the week. His favorite candidate was Chaffin.

Put ashes on your plum trees on Ash Wednesday and you won't be troubled with curculio.

At a recent meeting of the Senior class, Mr. Elliott was elected president and Mr. Kilts vice president.

R. Otis Yoder, '09 spent the first part of this week among friends and relatives in Angola, Shipshewana and Goshen.

The Rev. Elmer Biles, of the senior class supplied the pulpit at the Methodist church at Podunkville last Sunday and the church will now be closed three weeks for necessary repairs.

Several of the fellows are following the example of the jolly bachelors and have rented the Roseville cottage for the winter. Lutz, Culy, Munsell, Schaffer and several others have already moved in.

The editor takes pleasure in announcing that we are to have a band. Mr. Elliott is organizing it and under his leadership it will undoubtedly be a success. He hopes to have it in running order by the basket ball season and we will probably be treated to something very nice before games and between halves. He is experiencing some difficulty, however, in securing instruments and the other day hearing that Mr. Paff had clarinet he went around to see him and the following conversation took place: Mr. Elliott—"Hello Ernest, I heard you had a clarinet." Ernest—"Well, I, I was sick just before I came down here but I have forgotten what the Doctor said it was."

The Farmer is stronger than usual this week owing to the article which is on onions: Onions require cool, rather moist and level land, soil with the best possible surface tilth and containing much quickly available plant food, careful attention to the selection of seed and the most perfect surface tillage. When all these conditions are fulfilled nearly anyone can make money raising them. Speaking of onions reminds me of a story I once heard of a farmer who planted a crop of potatoes with onions between the rows. When the time came to harvest the potatoes, however, he had a very poor crop and when asked by a neighbor why he had such a poor crop, he gave the following reply: "Wal you see the onions got so big that they made the potatoes' eyes water and they could'nt see to grow." This shows very good reasoning but he isn't the only one for the other day in fruit growing class, Keiss remembered that the measuring worm and the tape worm were the same.

The Winona Literary Club.

The Winona Literary club held its regular meeting Wednesday afternoon in the parlor of the Winona hotel with Miss Clark presiding.

The members responded to roll call by giving quotations from southern authors.

Miss Clark read two original poems upon the club flower—the violet and asked for the names of the authors. No one responded, but one of the members said that Mrs. Rigdon and Miss Fox were the authors, neither of whom were present.

The program of the afternoon was in charge of Miss Mary Chase, assisted by section C. The subject was "The Old and New South," a resume of which was given by Miss Mary Chase. Mrs. Young followed with an interesting talk on the racial question, giving an account of the Negro before and since the war. Mrs. Cunningham read an interesting paper on the agriculture and forestry of the south, showing that although immense crops are now being raised, agriculture is still in its infancy. Miss Herrick's subject was the manufacturing industries and having been a teacher in the south gave some facts from her own observation.

Mrs. Darst gave a few facts concerning the mineral product. It is interesting to know that the most wonderful marble deposits in the world are in Georgia. Mrs. Conkle read a fine paper upon the great subject of temperance, showing how a great wave of temperance has swept over the south and the good results accomplished by it. Miss LaCrone closed the program by a very interesting talk upon the subject of education and having been a teacher in a southern school was able to give much of interest from personal observation. It is interesting to note that Nashville, Tenn. has more schools than any other southern city and is called "The Atlas of the South." At the close of the program Miss Clark presented Miss Fox with a beautiful bunch of violets, Mrs. Stewart, the vice president, having contributed two large bunches for the writers of the poems.

New United Brethren Church Dedicated at Warsaw.

The dedication of the new United Brethren church in East Warsaw occurred Sunday morning when addresses were made by Rev. I. S. Bauman and Rev. J. Allen Miller, of Ashland, Ohio. About $3,000 was raised at the morning service leaving a remaining debt of only $900 on the edifice which was built at a cost of $8,600.

The Rev. George C. Carpenter called on Rev. J. C. Breckenridge, Rev. Young, Dr. Palmer and Rev. Arlen who made short addresses.

The dedicatory sermon was delivered Sunday evening by Rev. J. Allen Miller, D. D.

Services have been held throughout the week by the different societies of the church.

Winona Park School News

Miss Jeannette Carpenter is expecting her father, Mr. J. L. Carpenter, of Fort Collins, Col., this week.

Last Monday evening Mrs. Fairfield gave a most interesting talk before the girls on "Schools in France."

House meeting was held on Tuesday evening for the dormitory girls and a new rule dispensing with local correspondence was announced.

Miss Lynch, Miss Carpenter, Miss Mayo, Miss Todd and Miss Miller were chaperoned by Miss LeCrone at the ball game at Warsaw on Saturday afternoon.

Miss Ethel Woodford, Miss Stansifer, Miss Mabel Toy, Miss Grace N. Stevenson and Miss Young, delegates of the Park School to the Y. W. C. A. Convention held at Earlham College, Richmond, Ind., returned Monday evening.

Systematic Benevolence.

A pamphlet entitled "What We Owe, and How To Pay It," has recently fallen into our hands. It is written by Mr. Thomas Kane, who is well known as a Director of the Winona Assembly. He is a prominent layman in one of the influential churches of Chicago, and his little circular is an able argument in defense of systematic giving toward charitable and religious objects. The writer, who is a phenomenal success in his own business, proceeds to show from elaborate statistics that, viewed alone from the standpoint of worldly interests, nine-tenths of a man's income will yield a larger return, when the other tenth is applied to systematic benevolences, than the undivided whole expended upon himself. The whole article is in the nature of an appeal, and is being circulated free of expense, through all denominations, with a view of turning the current of public sentiment into the plan of tithing.

There is little question that a reasonable and justly proportioned liberality, prompted by a sense of obligation, tends to broaden a man's views, temper his asperities, and enlarge his sphere and capacity for usefulness. There is nothing that so materially interferes with the development of character and manliness as a niggardly withholding of means that cannot be regarded otherwise than a trust fund, placed with the individual, to be accounted for in the inevitable day of reckoning.

Insurance.
