

WINONA ASSEMBLY REVIEW

VOL. VIII. NO. 27.

WINONA LAKE, IND., WEDNESDAY, JULY 25, 1906

PRICE 3 CENTS.

THOMAS CONCERT SEATS

Orders Reaching Assembly Office by Mail and Telegraph—Advance
Sale This Morning.

The sale of reserved seats for the concerts of the Theodore Thomas Orchestra, at Winona Lake next week, opens at the Administration building this morning, and Winona Park and Warsaw people will, from present indications, do well to be on hand early. Orders for these seats are coming in by mail and telegraph from Indiana and Ohio, and the signs point to a great crowd of music lovers for the twelve programs which the Thomas organization will give.

The only seats which will be reserved for the entire week will be for the night concerts. One of these tickets will cost a dollar. Should a seat be desired for any afternoon or a single evening concert, it may also be reserved, the price being 25 cents for each concert.

The management, in working out these reserved seat plans, is trying to give visitors from a distance a chance to obtain seats after they arrive at Winona Park. In other years the experience has been that where people already at the park desired to hear a concert by some important musical organization, they would take possession of a seat some hours before the program would begin and hold it. When a visitor would arrive at the park, he would find all the seats gone. The plan that is to be carried out for the Thomas concerts is, it is believed, fair both to people already at Winona Park and to those who may come from a distance for any single concert.

Instead of buyers of reserved seats getting the coupons, they will obtain slips calling for the coupons, which will be presented at the door of the auditorium at the concerts. The coupons will then be given to the purchaser. Should the holder of a slip fail to call for his coupons by the time the first number on the program is given, the management will take it that the holder of the slip will not attend that concert, when the coupon will be turned over to some one who has use for it. This rule is to be followed not only for the protection of buyers of slips, but may enable some one to find a seat which would otherwise be vacant during a concert.

With five eminent soloists on the programs of next week, and with popular classical numbers by America's greatest orchestra, it promises to be the chief musical event in the history of the Winona Assembly.

AGENTS ON AN OUTING.

Two Hundred Fire Insurance Men Are at Winona Park.

About two hundred Indiana agents of the Ohio Farmers' Insurance are at Winona to hold their twelfth annual convention. The agents have an association of their own, but they are at Winona as much for pleasure as they are for business. The agents arrived yesterday and are making their headquarters at Winona Hotel. The members, who may be distinguished from other park visitors by their gold badges, began their outing yesterday afternoon by organizing two teams and playing a game of baseball. The president of the association is James Johnson, ninety years old, a veteran in insurance affairs.

SCHOOL FACULTY MEETING.

Several Speakers Heard by Summer School Teachers Last Night.

The faculty of the Winona Summer School is meeting once a week this season for the first time, and the members of the whole teaching force are winning much profit from what the speakers at these affairs have to present. There was a session last evening, over which Mrs. Eliza A. Blaker, associate principal, presided, and one of the speakers, who aroused the interest of all on what was to them a comparatively new subject, was J. C. Breckenridge, at the head of the Winona Agricultural Institute. He spoke at some length on the purposes of the institution, and why it was organized. He took an optimistic view of its future as he explained the purposes of the school.

Dr. H. A. Gobin, Miss Hoagland and Registrar G. W. Worley spoke to the same subject, dwelling particularly on the dignity to be found in labor. Mrs. Blaker was another speaker, her topic being Froebel and what he did years ago in his mother play-book to emphasize the dignity of trades.

AIRSHIP AT WINONA LAKE

Aerial Monster Will Give Flights and Exhibitions During Week of Aug.

6—Now Holds Record.

The Columbia, said to be the largest and most successful airship of the day, is to be brought to Winona Lake on August 6, and every day that the weather will permit, the aerial flyer will give demonstrations. When not in the air, the ship will be on exhibitions on the grounds of Winona Park. Its owner asserts that the Columbia holds the long distance record for a flight in the air. On June 24 it made over twenty-two miles, in the face of a strong wind, from Harvey, Ill., to Franklin. One who saw this sensational flight says that the Columbia cut graceful circles over the city of Harvey, appearing to be a huge bird on the wing, and suddenly darted in the direction of Joliet.

An hour and a half after leaving the earth, F. L. Mattery, the aeronaut in charge of the ship, descended near Franklin, after covering a distance of over twenty-two miles. The ship was in excellent condition and the motor worked perfectly, but, owing to the darkness, Mattery decided not to continue to Joliet, and he caused the Columbia to settle to the ground. The time made was regarded as remarkable by the aeronaut and A. J. Bodkin, the builder, in view of the wide circles made before starting off on a straight course and the heavy headwinds against which the big contrivance sailed.

The airship will be on exhibition in a monster aerdrome each day in Winona Park, where hourly lectures will be given by Capt. Mattery on the subject of aerial navigation.

Woman's Club Program.

The Woman's Club meets at 4 p. m. today at Bible School hall. "The Relation of the Home to Education and Religion" will be the subject for general discussion. Musical numbers will be given by Mrs. Ralph Yarnelle and Mrs. Eliza A. Blaker will speak on "The Kindergarten." Miss Eleanor Kirby will talk of "Secondary Education," and "Higher Education" will be the subject to which Dr. H. A. Gobin will speak. The program will close with a vocal number by Mrs. James R. Frazer.

One of the most exciting games of the season was played at Goshen, Monday, between the Goshen and Winona teams. The game lasted full ten innings and was a pitchers' battle from start to finish, with Enyert, of Winona proving a shade the more effective. He struck out twelve men and allowed but five hits, while Bechnell struck out five and allowed six hits.

Winona began the scoring in the second inning, when Jones singled, reached second on R. Kelly's error, and scored on L. Scott's scorching two-base hit along the left field foul line. Try as hard as they could, the Goshenites were unable to complete the circuit of the bases until the last half of the sixth when I. Kelly was presented with a life on first by "Red" Scott's overthrow, sacrificed to second and scored on R. Kelly's punk single over short—Goshen's second hit of the game.

The game drifted along, each side going out in one, two, three order amid tremendous excitement and vociferous rooting, until the first half of the tenth when Diddel was passed to first, sacrificed to second by a neatly executed bunt of Drucky and scored on Enyert's line drive to center. Goshen took their turn at the bat, but were powerless before the great speed of Enyert. The score:

Tennis Tournament.

Next week the annual tennis tournament will be played on the Winona courts. A number of cracks from outside will enter, as is always the case, and the "gallery" will be given for first and second place in both singles and doubles and the events will be open to all amateurs.

Baseball Today.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock the strong Columbia City Grays will play the Winona team on the Winona grounds. Thomas will pitch for the "Little Red Men" and some new faces will appear in the line-up. Game called at 3:00 p. m. Admission 15c.

Baseball Tomorrow.

Monday Winona won a ten-inning game from Goshen on the latter's home grounds. The Goshen team will be here tomorrow with blood in their eyes and will do their best to turn the tables. Bridge will pitch for Winona and Bamberger for Goshen. Come out and root for the home team. This game will be called at 2:30 instead of 3 in order to allow the visitors to attend the elephant show.

Golf Tournament.

Saturday morning in an athletic way will be given over to golf. At 9 o'clock there will be a driving contest at the eighth tee, three balls to each contestant. After the completion of this event, there will be an approaching and putting contest over the bunker at the eighth hole. Each man will have three shots at the distances, 15, 40 and 65 yards back of the bunker. Whoever holes out his nine balls in the fewest number of strokes wins the contest. At 10. a. m. the regular Saturday morning tournament will be played. It will be a handicap affair, eighteen holes, medal play.

Excursionists From South Bend.

One of the big excursions of the season to Winona Park was that of yesterday, when twenty-two carloads of men, women and children came from South Bend, over the Big Four railroad to spend the day. They represented the Grocers' and Butchers' Association, and closed their stores before they left home. South Bend people who did not go to market the day before will have to fast until the market men open their shops this morning. The visitors did not leave a nook of Winona Park unexplored. The steamer City of Warsaw made extra trips and Eph Thompson's elephants gave an extra performance, and both boat and show had all the patronage they could take care of.

Tomorrow will be another excursion day, among the delegations being the Sunday Schools of Bourbon.

FIVE CLASSES WILL MEET

Reunion of Students of School for Librarians Will Be Held in August.

The present year is the fifth of the Indiana Public Library Commission's school of instruction, beginning at Indianapolis in 1902. Members of the classes of 1902, '03, '04, and '05, are invited to meet at Winona Lake with the faculty and class of 1906 on August 8.

Although the Winona Technical Institute is not directly under the control of the commission, yet the Library School of the Institute is in a measure an outgrowth of the commission's work. The year book of the League of Library Commissions has the following to say of Indiana's efforts on behalf of more and better libraries:

"The traveling library system in Indiana was inaugurated in 1899, and was at first administered from the state library. In 1902 the books were transferred to the office of the commission and their use has steadily increased since that time. The general libraries containing miscellaneous collections of 40 volumes each, are loaned to any community upon application of five citizens, the express charges being paid by the applicants. The libraries are exchanged every three months, but may be renewed by special permission.

"Study libraries, consisting of from fourteen to twenty volumes upon some special subject, are loaned to any study club upon application by the club and prepayment of express charges.

"Since 1901, the executive officer of the commission has attended the annual conference of Farmers' Institute workers at Purdue University and many of the 92 county farmers' institutes, and in 1905 effected a desirable co-operation with the Agricultural department of that institution whereby the books of the commission traveling libraries were made more available to Indiana farmers and their families.

"The Public Library Commission of Indiana created in 1904 a department to bring about closer co-operation between the schools and libraries of the state.

"The plan of the department consisted, first, in giving talks at general meetings with the purpose of stimulating an interest in the work; second, in presenting the subject to teachers at their institutes and giving a brief course of instruction at some of the normal schools; third, in giving courses at the summer school for librarians at Winona Lake, the library school of the Technical Institute at Indianapolis, and library institutes over the state; and, fourth, in the publication of lists and bulletins from the commission office.

"With the purpose of arousing public sentiment to the importance of this work, talks were given at the annual conventions of the women's and literary clubs, at teachers' meetings, the annual meeting of the school superintendents and at church meetings.

"A few weeks were spent during the season of teachers' institutes in making visits to those held in places where library conditions were good. The purpose was to establish friendly relations between the library and school interests of the state, to announce the traveling libraries for grades ready to be sent to schools, and to call attention to the help which the library commission can give teachers in the selection of books and in establishing libraries.

"In the Summer School for Librarians and the Library School of the Technical Institute a six weeks' course of instruction was given, and co-operation between library and school has received special attention in the library institutes held throughout the state."

MUSIC SET TO POETRY.

Mrs. Saunders and Miss Pratt Presented the Witch Song.

Nellie Peck Saunders gave a reading at the auditorium last evening which appealed strongly to the artistic sense of the most cultured portion of her large audience. It was a delightful literary conception, set to pleasing, melodious music, and Mrs. Saunders gave it additional worth by a personal charm. She gave some short humorous readings, but the chief number was "Das Hexenlied," or witch song, which for value depended upon the talent of the reader and the well directed support of Miss Ruby Pratt, who was at the piano. "Das Hexenlied" is really music in a poem, written by Ernest von Wildenbruch, a patriotic poet of Syria. It is weird and dramatic at times, and again a soothing love story, and Mrs. Saunders gave it a fine interpretation. Especially did it please the audience as she portrayed the death of the hero of the romance, for, when he died, there was not a doleful note in the music, but one of joy as his soul sped away to join the sweetheart who had gone before.

The reading was a novelty for a Winona audience, not only in the poem itself, but in the cleverness of the reader and the splendid assistance given her by Miss Pratt. Throughout the effort the author made it evident that he had a story to tell, but it was one of melodious music, with words to interpret it, and the accompanist divided the attention of the audience, while the reader made clear the meaning of the music.

Mrs. Saunders will give a reading with the Rogers' orchestra this afternoon.

PARKERHOUSE ROLLS.

Miss Dean Tells Her Cooking Class How to Make Them.

The department of domestic science, a new branch of the Winona Summer Schools, is holding the interest of the students who are receiving instruction from the head of the department, Miss Daisy Dean, of Fort Wayne.

Gray-haired women work alongside of young girls in their teens. Each student of this most highly prized of all household accomplishments, is provided with her own locker and each conducts a miniature kitchen.

Miss Dean is everywhere, assisting, advising, giving a pat to a refractory roll, or a stir to a pop-over that refuses to "pop."

The lesson of yesterday was the second on bread making. Parkerhouse rolls and pop-overs, looking delicious and brown, were the result of the morning lesson.

Pineapples cut in disks and served with sugar, and eaten as one would eat fresh strawberries, was the tempting warm weather dessert made by Miss Dean and her class.

Pastries of all kinds are to be taught this week, working up to sponge cake, which, in Miss Dean's opinion, is one of the hardest of pastries to make right. These lessons are given from 8 to 9:30 each morning and one can have a single lesson for 40 cents or a week's instruction in making the husband happy and the children healthy for $1.

To make the delicious Parkerhouse rolls, Miss Dean gives these directions:

Two cups of scalded milk, three teaspoons of butter, two teaspoons of sugar, one teaspoon of salt, on yeast cake dissolved in one-quarter cup of luke-warm water, 5½ to 6 cups of flour. Add butter, sugar and salt to milk. When luke-warm, add the dissolved yeast cake and three cups of flour. Beat thoroughly, cover and let the mixture rise until light; cut down and add enough flour to knead. Then let the dough rise again, toss on a slightly floured board and roll out to one-third inch in thickness.

Shape the rolls with a biscuit cuttle of a case knife in flour and with dle of a case knife in flour and with it make a crease through the center of each piece; brush over one-half of each piece with melted butter, and fold and press the edges together. Place the rolls in a greased pan, one inch apart. Let them rise and bake in a hot oven from twelve to fifteen minutes.

DEFINITION OF PRAYER

Dr. White Discussed Jacob's Appeal at the Bible Hour of Yesterday Morning.

The Bible School hall, situated in the middle of the Island, is an ideal retreat for Bible students. Yesterday the grounds were crowded with excursionists from many points, but here all was quiet and the atmosphere of the Holy Book seems to surround and make sacred the hall dedicated to its study.

Dr. White as a teacher and lecturer is growing daily into closer touch with his students. That they all feel his personal interest in them is manifested by the attendance and attention. The opening prayer by Dr. White at the 11 o'clock hour of yesterday was a plea that this Bible study may yield strength to the character and help all associated here together.

Dr. White read from Genesis 32; dwelling upon verses 9 and 10. This was Jacob's prayer, given in abject humility, and with an earnest appeal to a promise, closing with a specific appeal to God.

Dr. White defined prayer as a sending back to God what God has sent to us. It is in God that prayer has its origin. Another thought suggested by Dr. White was that in a way, the educational value of the Bible lies in the fact that many things stated are uncertain. God is a mystery and we as students and Christians do not allow enough for uncertainty.

An interesting diagram, showing the result of the six days of the creation, was drawn by the speaker. Many accept the story of the creation as literal, others as figurative, and some not at all, he said. But until a better story of creation is written one had best hold to and love the old story and cease fault-finding.

Stanley Hall, the scholar, declares the Bible to be the most psychological book in the world and Dr. White would emphasize this statement by adding that it was also the most pedagogical book in the world. The common people go to the Bible for help, for, as Abraham Lincoln said, "God must love the common people or He would not have made so many of them."

The Bible is not alone for scholars, but all sorts and conditions of men may go to it to get practical and true ideas about God.

Genesis 1:1 is one of the sublime statements of the Bible. "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." It alone proves the sovereignty of God, Dr. White said.

Among other characteristics of the books of Genesis is the teaching of the doctrine of the universe all moving from one great center; a second characteristic is law and order, while a third is the continuity and development in God's plan.

Dr. White dwelt upon the doctrine of evolution and gave results of the best and latest scientific investigation.

The Hindoo idea of God contrasted with the doctrine of God as shown in the creation was the closing thought of the morning hour. How did the doctrine of God originate? How to make all men accept the doctrine of the one great God? These questions, Dr. White said, are always vital to the Hindoo. God is in everything, and this belief is always associated with the lowest immorality. When one accepts the pantheistic theology one accepts the belief that God is responsible for sin.

A word of advice was given by Dr. White to those studying to be missionaries. "He would have them concentrate their efforts and study on the Bible and not on heathen philosophy. Then they can carry a new message of hope and joy and love that will win the heart. With God's message all heathen doctrines may be refuted," Dr. White said.

ARTS AND CRAFTS EXHIBIT.

Several Hundred Women Guests at the Reception.

Several hundred guests were at College Hall yesterday afternoon for the reception of the department of Arts and Crafts. The callers were received by Miss Iglehart, Mrs. S. C. Dickey, Mrs. McDaniel, Miss Cooper and the teachers of College Hall. Misses Helen Hackett, Hazel Ganis and Lena Landes were at the punch bowl, while Mesdames Townley, Fleigle and Spinning assisted in entertaining.

The Arts and Crafts department was one of interest, crowds of women surrounding the table where Chinese embroidery was displayed.

The table on which was shown Miss Iglehart's china won much praise. Here were plates that had received prizes at Portland, Buffalo and the World's Fair.

In the copper one saw many beautiful designs. These were sent to Miss Iglehart direct from Switzerland by one who is herself a worker in copper and understands securing the best Swiss designs.

Miss Iglehart had on exhibition some new effects in china where the work was in flat color. This work was most beautiful.

The public school teachers' course in drawing was also of interest. The walls of the rooms were covered with work best suited to teach school children.

Many beautifully bound books, the work of pupils in the Arts and Crafts department were on exhibition.

These art receptions have grown to be a feature of the social life at Winona.

How to Save Baby From Being Sick

BY A MOTHER WHO KNOWS

Every mother should avoid the possibility of sickness befalling her children in this season. And, of course, most mothers do honestly try to avoid such possibilities, but many do not appreciate the one great essential.

Feed the little folks good, healthful, pure, strengthening food and there need not be any fear.

For many years physicians have prescribed malt extracts, which contain a large percentage of maltose, or malt sugar. Malta-Vita, the crisp, delicious whole-wheat food, contains from eight to ten per cent of maltose.

Malta-Vita, on account of its large percentage of maltose, is easily digestible and readily assimilated by the human economy, forming rich healthy blood, is especially beneficial for children and it is so good to eat—not at all like the tasteless variety of breakfast foods—that the little ones always welcome its appearance on the table.

Mrs. Miles McCormick, of South Bend, Ind., says: "We had almost despaired of finding something our baby could eat without being distressed. He had, since birth, been a constant sufferer from constipation and a general derangement of the stomach and bowels. Since we began feeding him Malta-Vita he has improved wonderfully and is entirely cured of constipation."

Malta-Vita, all grocers, now 10 cents.

A TRIBUTE TO LANIER

Prof. Edgar Mendenhall Was the Speaker at Yesterday's Summer School Convocation.

"Sidney Lanier: An Appreciation," was the convocation address of yesterday delivered by Prof. Edgar Mendenhall, a warm admirer of the delicate verse of Lanier. The personality of Lanier was so great that he has left a permanent imprint on the literature of America. Born a Southerner, Sidney Lanier was a true son of the South. During the civil war he fought valiantly, was captured and languished in prison. Here developed the germs of tuberculosis from which disease Lanier died while yet a young man.

His love for music was intense, his delicate body responding in perfect tune to the musician's note. Lanier had most decided views on art. His was a genuinely artistic temperament of the musician, artist and poet. Reared a Calvinist, Lanier soon outgrew all creeds. To him the Sermon on the Mount needed no interpreter. A few of Lanier's best poems on nature are found in the readers of the public schools. It is well that such a man and such a poet be studied by the young. Lanier's intense love for nature, his love for "the wood smell" rivals the love of Thoreau for all things of nature, Prof. Mendenhall said.

Lanier's home life was ideal. His great struggle in the face of poverty and sickness proved him to be what his beautiful poem, "Life and Song" pictures.

RAN AWAY WITH SHOW.

How Eph Thompson Got His Start as Elephant Trainer.

The story of how Eph Thompson got into the show business is the story of many a boy who could not resist the glamor and sawdust of the circus ring. Thompson was born in Ypsilanti, Mich. where as a small boy he lived with a man named Charles Freeman. When Eph was fourteen years old a circus came to town, the little negro boy went down to the tents to see what the chance would be to earn an admission ticket, and when the show left town, Eph Thompson ran away with it. The next time Thompson went back to his Michigan home he was a giant in size and strength, and he took his herd of elephants with him, and the mayor went down to the train to meet him.

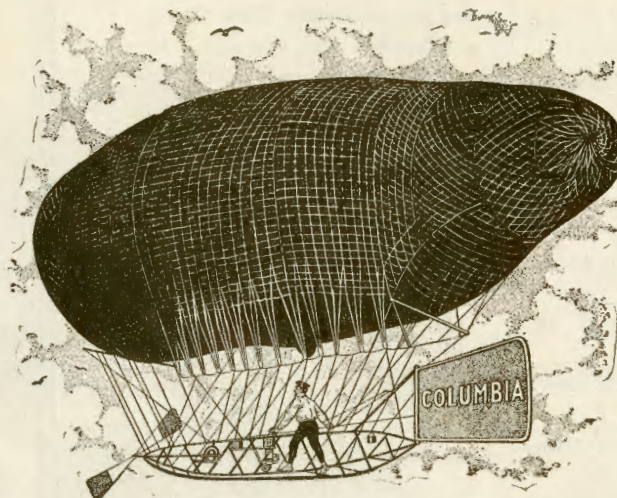

When Thompson speaks to one of the elephants in the ring, he calls the animal by name, and it apparently understands him. The elephants gave their feats to big crowds yesterday, and they will perform afternoon and evening the rest of the week, giving special performances as occasion demands.
