LAST SESSION OF SCHOOL

Mission Workers Heard Discussion of Philippine Questions by Mrs.
Montgomery—Bible Study.

The last session of the Summer School of Missions opened at 8 o'clock yesterday morning at the chapel of The Inn. The registration showed an enrollment of 177. Mrs. Montgomery had a pleasant surprise for the school by having one of the Winona girls appear in the native dress of the Philippine women. The native dress is very picturesque, with its bright red skirt, and airy, flowing sleeves.

"It is no longer a question," said Mrs. Montgomery, "if we ought to own the Philippines. They belong to us, and there is no field in the world today that offers such an opportunity for missionary work. There are 3,000 of the islands—most of them small and uninhabited. The seven large islands are beautiful in scenery and the people are all of one race. There are a few of the little black natives left, but the great majority of the people are the Malays."

Mrs. Montgomery is enthusiastic over the industrial mission. She regards it as one of God's great agencies for Christianizing the islands of the sea, and "it is our duty to push it all we can," she said. Where these missions have been tried and agriculture developed, the people have found they can live without plunder and are infatuated with the love of earning money. The natives worked at road building and were then anxious to carry the packages over the road.

In Mrs. Montgomery's opinion, the best way to learn the language is through these industrial missions. Mixing with the people one gets the language as no one else can. There is great need of a woman's hospital in the Philippines, and the government would welcome medical missionaries.

There is such a desire among the natives to learn English that besides our good schools there is a great opportunity for teachers. For many years teaching English will be a source of revenue in the Philippines.

"We must not fail," said Mrs. Montgomery, "in appreciation of work already done. Spain has done much that we must recognize."

In a study of the social life one notices the great affection of the families, the care for the aged and sick, which is in direct contrast to the Malays of Borneo, who kill all their old and sick.

The condition of women in the Philippines is an improvement on the women of any of the oriental nations. The moral condition is bad. They have a form in informal wedlock, which is recognized by themselves and friends as a form of marriage. A real marriage ceremony is not performed because of the high fees charged by the Roman Catholic church.

Mrs. Montgomery paid a high tribute to Secretary Taft, and said that he is destined to fill a greater place in history than he is now doing physically. He has been able to take these ity of the Pope, and, in a way, they are detached from formal authority.

After Secretary Taft's visit to the vatican, where he arranged for the purchase of all the valuable church lands, all questions between the natives and the Pope might have been peaceably settled had the Pope, in Mrs. Montgomery's opinion, received the proper counsel.

At the close of Mrs. Montgomery's talk, she was loudly applauded and her way through the hall to the train was an ovation.

The school, by a rising vote, expressed their appreciation of courtesies extended by Dr. and Mrs. Dickey, and by the Missionary Society of Winona.

The last hour of the morning was

CONGRESSMEN IN DEBATE

Ship Subsidy Question the Topic of C.
H. Grosvenor and Champ Clark
On Winona Platform.

"Shall the United States Subsidize Her Merchant Marine?" This is a question which has been before Congress for some years and two of the men who have been most active in keeping it alive at the national capital presented it to a large audience at Winona Park yesterday afternoon. Congressman Charles H. Grosvenor, of Ohio, who has been an earnest champion of this measure, when he spoke yesterday, indicated in many ways that he has not changed his opinions. Congressman Champ Clark, of Missouri, just as ardent in his opposition to money from the government going to the merchant marine as Mr. Grosvenor is for it, pleaded his cause eloquently.

Mr. Grosvenor kept his audience in good humor and frequently in outbursts of laughter by his wit. At one point he diverted from the topic under discussion to say that when they are by themselves he and Mr. Clark agree on about every question.

These two speakers began the Civic Week program of the Winona Assembly, and they were introduced by B. F. Shively, of South Bend. Mr. Grosvenor, who for twenty-five years has been in public service, said:

"Ignorance and prejudice are two things the friends of ship subsidy must fight. Indiana people show a lack of knowledge of the $7,000,000 or $8,000,000 Congress expends every year in the form of subsidies. The government of the United States subsidized the commerce of the lakes. The money from the sale of public lands of the states and territories was turned over as subsidy to the railroads.

"Subsidy is simply a giving by the government a gratuity to aid in private development. Gentlemen in Congress who voted against the subsidy bill, voted large sums to speed the United States mail. Congress digs harbors deeper on demand of every foreign steamship company. Eighteen or twenty feet were necessary at first, now twenty-nine or thirty are necessary. We do this that the ships may carry a greater cargo and make greater profits. This money comes out of native questions and make their problems his in such a manner that he has won the native heart. Especially is this true in the manner in which he has treated the question of the ownership of the Philippine churches. They in reality belong to the bishop and through him, to the Pope, but Secretary Taft, in a very statesmanship way, had decided that whoever has possession of the churches should keep them until the question was decided. Ultimately the decision must be that the churches go to the Pope, but in the meantime the people will be able to build new ones for themselves.

The natives still call themselves Catholics. Theirs was not a revolt from the church, but from the author-taken by Mrs. Wells, who gave the last of her interesting Bible studies. From the fourth chapter of Philipians she drew the lesson that the Lord wants to bring the world to Himself. He can do it Himself; He might do it in any length of time, but He is allowing us the opportunity of helping in this work. We have the companionship of God, and by much work we will have an abundant entrance to heaven—not squeeze through. Jesus rejoices in us, as we manifest His glory and become skilled workmen.

The morning service closed with a consecration service.

The United Study Society have invited Mrs. Montgomery to deliver the the American pockets and is nothing but a subsidy.

"Presidents Harrison, McKinley and Roosevelt have urged the passage of ship subsidy bills, two of which have been passed, urged onward to their passage by our Presidents.

"There is today intense interest in our trade with foreign countries. There is a demand that must be met—a demand sounded in President McKinley's last speech.

"How are we to reach the oriental markets? We are building the Panama canal for this purpose. It is shortening the distance between the great manufacturing centers and bringing labor and capital in contact."

Not an American flag over a sea ship did Congressman Grosvenor see in his oriental trip. Step by step we are being driven off the sea, he said, and allowing great opportunities for our enemies. The merchant ship is the commercial traveler of the ocean. It carries production into the markets of the world.

When American ships are driven off the sea England will usurp the markets of the world. Last year $200,000,000 was paid by our government for freight transportation. This money goes to the builder of the ship and 90 per cent to labor. Only eight per cent of this money comes to America, when all of it might.

What is the advantage of foreign ships over us? the speaker asked. Every piece of material entering into the building of a ship comes in free of duty so that is not the reason. The wages paid for the operation of a ship is one of the reasons. Another reason is the subsidy paid these ships by their governments.

Little Japan votes a subsidy four times as large as that asked for in the present American bill.

System, adopted by America, will give results in the completion of a system that, if necessary, we can go to war successfully. We have not more than one-half enough men to man our ships, if called into active service. Are we to get men from corn fields, without training, to fill this demand? No nation is great in war that has not been great in peace.

In the Spanish war was drafted all ships and manned by men who proved to be worthless on sea. This was half of the expense of the war. The bill before Congress now is to grant a subsidy to the ships that will train young men how to be sailors.

No money is to be paid to any ship, belonging to the trusts. The bill was framed with this purpose in view, and all it asks for is $10,000,000.

Discriminating duties will not help matters, is Congressman Grosvenor's opinion. When we had low duties on our imports it was not so bad. But now all the world, except America, is voting subsidy to their ships. We must take up the matter in earnest, or be forgotten as a ship power.

Mr. Shively eloquently introduced Mr. Clark as being one of the leaders from the time he first entered Congress. Congressman Clark referred to Mr. Grosvenor as being the "toughest Republican debater in Congress," and staunchest upholder of Republican faith. Mr. Clark said in part:

"Bad measures in Congress are all passed by the carelessness of American people. Our revolutionary fathers did not die that we should forget election day. No American citizen can read the Declaration of Independence without having his blood flow faster."

Mr. Clark predicts a great Democratic victory—all sensible Republicans conceding a Democratic House. He said that prejudice against the word "subsidy" is natural. It is paying a fellow for doing a thing he ought to do without pay. It is taxing the agricultural and stock-raising men of the country for the benefit of the few.

"If Americans can't haul things as cheap as somebody else, they had best get out of business," Mr. Clark declared.

Congress gave as much land as seven times the area of Indiana to the railroads. This was all unnecessary. Every railroad would have been built without one cent of subsidy.

The Republicans, with a majority of 117, can not pass the subsidy bill, General Grosvenor not even being able to get the bill reported out of his committee.

Mr. Clark agrees that the United States merchant marine is gone. When the Republicans came into power, America's merchant marine was flourishing, being the second largest in the world. In forty-five years of Republican rule our carrying power has been diminished from seventy-two to eight per cent. This was caused by stringent navigation laws, and bowing to American manufacturers.

Congressman Clark quoted from a speech by B. F. Shively on the same subject, upholding his own statements on the question that was being debated. There is no more expense to raise an acre of sugar than an acre of corn. Do we get a tariff on corn? There is a 15-cent duty on corn, but who in Indiana ever saw an ear of foreign corn? Who ever ate a foreign egg? Are we afraid the Canadians will run their hens over in this country that we have a duty of 3 cents a dozen on eggs?

When, four years ago, the American Congress purchased food stuffs to send to the starving East Indies, they were compelled to ship it in an English ship. A Republican Congress was to blame for this, the speaker said. No two men in Congress agree as to how much money the present subsidy bill will take out of the United States treasury.

Our shipping interests are simply getting things out of this country and getting in what we want. Mr. Clark said that to get American trade back, it would be necessary to repeal navigation laws. The thing to start the American marine out of its grave is to have a discriminating tariff admit all goods in American ships at a 20 per cent lower duty than the Dingley bill, and charge the Dingley rates on all foreign goods coming in in foreign ships.

"If one wants lower taxes and the restoration of the merchant marine, vote the Democratic ticket," he said. In his reply, Congressman Grosvenor insisted that he did not come here to make a tariff speech. He undertook to disarm Congressman Clark's argument, by impeaching the character of many of the men quoted by that speaker. He said that $75,000,000 is now in the treasury at Washington, in spite of Congressman Clark's prophecy of a deficit. He denied that the Republicans had ever destroyed an American ship, but stopped before he recalled what the Democrats had done. What did drive our merchant marine off the sea was the subsidies of the English government to English ships.

Congressman Grosvenor closed with an appeal to the people here in Indiana not to be troubled or be of little faith. The Republicans will continue in power and will continue to make laws beneficial to the people.

THE FIRST BIBLE HOUR.

Feature of Summer at Winona Is Opened by Dr. Moorehead.

Dr. W. H. Moorehead, of Xenia, Ohio, directed the Bible hour yesterday morning, which will be a feature of the season at Winona Lake.

The four gospels were selected for the morning lesson. They were never intended for a complete life of Christ, it was said. There is a period of thirty years when nothing is said of the Savior except the one incident of Him being found in the temple. Matthew masses together the ten great miracles of the Lord showing His power over life. Each gospel has a particular design. There is not a book of the New Testament that has not its key.

The presentation of Christ as the promised Messiah, is the key of Matthew. There are more than forty names given to the Savior, but they can all be reduced to four great titles.

Matthew is the royal gospel of the history of the King. Why does Matthew put David before Abraham, the founder of the race? God made two covenants—one with Abraham, but the royal one with David—because from him should come the one who is blessed of God. David's son is also David's Lord, who is to reign forever. In the five great discourses of Matthew, he teaches and establishes his theme. Mark is the gospel of the service of Jehovah. Nothing of his early life or mother, but all of the activity of the Lord. There must be adequate atonement for our sins, but we must keep the laws of God and make them honorable.

The key word of Mark is "straightway." It occurs forty-two times and always denotes the activity of the Lord. So busy is He, He has no time to eat bread, and must abridge His hours of sleep. Why in Mark is the hint that the mind of Jesus had given way? Because of this ceaseless activity in His service for men.

Luke traces the kindred of Christ to Adam so that He may claim kindred with the entire race—so Jesus can be the Redeemer of all. It is a singular fact that neither Matthew nor Mark use the word Redeemer, but we find the word in the first of Luke. One great purpose of Luke is to show that Jesus gives back to us our inheritance. The Spirit of God is very wise and knows all about the unbelief of men, and Luke has taken pains to show that the body that was placed in the tomb is the same one that appeared on the resurrection morning.

Dr. Moorehead believes in the healing of the body, but never that the body can be free from disease. "Keep the body as a sacred trust of God," was the Doctor's injunction.

The book of John is to show that though Jesus is the promised King, nevertheless He is the Son of God. John never loses sight of the great fact that the Deliverer is the Son of God and so the person of Jesus in this fourth narrative is always Infinite.

A harmony of these gospels destroys the distinct purpose of each of them. One can not make a perfect picture of a four-sided building—so with the four gospels—one must get a perfect picture of each.

Women's Monday Meeting.

Of unusual interest was the Women's Monday 4 o'clock meeting, in which Mrs. Besserer told of the work being done for emigrants at Ellis Island. Next Monday afternoon in the parlors of the hotel Mrs. Besserer will speak on the work among the foreigners in New York.

THE SPIDERWORT.

The most showy of the common wild plants, now in flower about Winona, is the spiderwort. The plant looks like a bunch of coarse grass, the stems being near a quarter of an inch thick. The long lance-linear leaves sheathe the stalks at their bases. The flowers are in bunches at the ends of the stems and branches, between a pair of leaves, or sometimes in the axils of the lower leaves. The flower clusters are of the form called umbels, which indicates that they resemble an umbrella in outline.

The flowers are of a beautiful purple blue, and are about an inch in breadth, the corolla, or blue part of the flower, being composed of three petals. The plant may be easily identified by the flower, and for confirmation you need only to cut one of the stalks, for the spiderwort has a peculiar juice resembling mucilage in appearance and almost as sticky, which flows out freely when the plant is cut.

Spiderwort is found everywhere in the higher ground, and occasionally on the lower ground that has been drained, but it is seldom seen in wet places. It is occasionally cultivated in gardens, and is well worth cultivation, for the flowers are very handsome in the morning. On hot days they soon close, and seem to melt or shrivel away.

Teachers in Summer Schools.

C. M. McDaniel, principal of the Winona Summer Schools, is at the Park ready to take up his work preliminary to the opening of the schools on July 9. In addition to W. C. Smith, of Winona Technical Institute, at Indianapolis, who is to teach the department of manual training, Mrs. Eliza A. Blaker, also of Indianapolis, is here, and another teacher is Miss Daisy A. Dean, of Fort Wayne. Miss Dean will have charge of the School of Domestic Science a new department of the summer schools.

Southern Orator Speaks This Afternoon on Socialism.

One of the features of the Assembly program today, and the second event of Civic Week, will be the address of Dr. Frank Dixon this afternoon at Winona Park. His subject will be "Socialism." Dr. Dixon is a Southerner, and he believes in individualism rather than socialism, and his address is looked forward to from a logical as well as an oratoric viewpoint.

Dr. Dixon is the youngest speaker on the list for Civic Week, and will be heard at the auditorium this afternoon.

ARNOLDO'S ANIMAL SHOW.

Panthers, Leopards and Jaguars Begin Exhibitions Today.

Arnoldo and his trained leopards, jaguars and panthers did not reach Winona Lake in time to begin their exhibits yesterday, and the first performance will be this afternoon at 4 o'clock, followed by one at 7. A big white tent was yesterday made ready for the show, but Arnoldo and his animals came from Denver and were unable to reach the Lake until last evening. There will be performances at 4 and 7 p. m. each day except on the Fourth, and on that day four performances will be given—at 10 a. m. and 2, 4 and 7 p. m. The exhibitions promise to be especially popular for little folks, and the admission will be 10 cents.

Delegates to Lake Geneva Conference
Spoke to Winona Members—Winona Organization Formed.

An increased attendance marked the young men's meeting Sunday night when short addresses were made by George New, Wayne Hemphill and V. W. Hehn, recent delegates to the student conference at Lake Geneva, Wis. They brought enthusiastic messages from that gathering of 450 students and their reports were listened to with interest.

The committee on organization reported and the following officers were elected for the season: President, Parley E. Zartmann, who was formerly an association secretary; vice presidents, C. E. Schaeffer, another experienced association man, and Robert Little; recording secretary, Louis Scott; treasurer, Lincoln Dickey; general secretary, Charles H. Harrington, who is also manager of the camp for Y. M. C. A. men and college students; assistant secretary, W. W. White, Jr.

In the camp work Wayne Hemphill, student secretary of Iowa University, will co-operate with Mr. Harrington.

About forty men were enrolled as members of this federated association at the meeting, and it is expected that soon the membership will be over one hundred. A nominal fee of 25 cents is charged as membership dues for the season, providing a small fund for social and athletic events.

Members of city, college or railroad Y. M. C. A. organizations who spend any time at Winona are invited to hand in their names. Any man on the grounds who has never been an association member will be welcome in this summer association. This is a unique organization, and it is believed it will aid materially in personal work and in social intercourse among the men who may be at Winona this summer.

Like other associations, this one will have a board of directors from leading business men on the grounds and will have a force of volunteer workers on committees for different branches of work—devotional, social, membership, music, athletic and boys' departments. The boys have already organized a junior department with the following live boys for officers: Edward Chapman, president; Robert Winch, vice president; Charles Toy, treasurer; Willis Haymaker, secretary. They have their religious meetings and are actively at work with athletics.

One feature of the work among the young men and young women will be a union gospel service on the second Sunday nights of July and August. By request the young men are to have charge of the meeting next Sunday night. They are planning to make this one of the best services of the season. The two organizations will also unite for social events.

The following representative men have been chosen by the young men as directors for the Federated Y. M. C. A. and nearly all of them have been seen and have consented to serve: E. S. Wells, at one time president of the Chicago Y. M. C. A.; H. P. Townley, a member of the Y. M. C. A. state committee; J. M. Studebaker, one of the chief supporters of the association at South Bend; E. A. K. Hackett, H. H. Fulton, Dr. S. C. Dickey and C. W. Leebrick. With the encouragement of these men, the organization bids fair to become one of the aggressive features of this and future Winona seasons.

AN INTRODUCTORY NIGHT.

"Winona Night" Observed as Beginning of the Assembly Program
—Prof. Excell's Chorus.

"Winona Night," an introductory night to the opening of the Assembly season, was observed at the auditorium last evening, a large audience being present. Dr. S. C. Dickey presided, and Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman presented Prof. E. O. Excell, who is to direct the Winona church chorus during the summer season. Prof. Excell is a heavy-weight, physically, and every ounce of weight seems to be saturated with song. He indicated it in a moment after he waved his hand at the audience and started about every one to singing a hymn. He called for volunteers for the chorus and about fifty men and women responded.

Prof. Excell's chorus will be heard at the Thursday night and Sabbath meetings and it is the intention to organize as large a band of singers as possible, from 250 to 400.

"This is to be the greatest year Winona ever knew," Dr. Chapman said, "especially in a musical way." He invited the old men and women who are members of choirs at home to join the Winona singing forces.

Dr. Little, a Winona director, of Wabash, offered prayer, and Dr. Dickey spoke of the plans and hopes for the whole organization. He said that it is interdenominational—that Methodists and Baptists are as much a part of the Winona effort as Presbyterians. "I need not tell you that Winona is progressing," he said, as he spoke of the number of new cottages. He announced that three additions will be platted and offered as real estate investments. He spoke of the summer schools, and said that they would have sixty or more instructors and that more than 1,000 students are expected. This will be the second summer of the Bible school, and it is to occupy a new pavilion on McDonald island and is to be under the direction of Dr. W. W. White, of the Winona Bible School of New York.

Dr. Chapman said that he would on Thursday nights present subjects which will be helpful to people in their living and he also announced that a children's chorus of perhaps 300 voices will be organized. This chorus will be heard on Sundays and at some of the Thursday night meetings. He said that the Bible Conference in August will be larger in attendance than in other years for the reason that a better program will be given.

Pictures were shown by a lantern, many of them illustrating the work of students in the Winona Technical Institute at Indianapolis, the pictures being explained by W. C. Smith, director of the institute.

ROGERS' BAND CONCERTS.

Opened Month's Engagement With Mrs. Gavin as Soloist.

Rogers' Winona Band and Symphony Orchestra began a month's engagement at Winona Lake with two concerts yesterday afternoon and last night, Mrs. Florence Atkins Gavin, of Indianapolis, being the soloist. The organization has been strengthened by the addition of a number of musicians, now numbering twenty-five men, under the direction of G. V. Roscoe, of Goshen. For years the band has been a prime favorite with Winona audiences, and it promises to have a more brilliant season this summer than in former years. It is made up of talented musicians, who show their ability either in band or orchestra work, and at the first concert yesterday played as if they had long been associated together. Its programs are of the popular order, yet music of a worthy character is given.

Mrs. Gavin has a rich contralto voice, which she blends with a charming personality. She established herself in popular favor when she appeared at Winona last year, and she was enthusiastically received yesterday. It being Civic Week, she sang for her first number in the afternoon "United States," and the second was a tuneful little ballad, "Under the Rose." As an encore she gave a favorite Yale song, and a Vassar college song was given with vim, for Mrs. Gavin is herself a Vassar girl.

The evening concert was a real musical treat. The orchestra opened the program with "Spring's Awakening," by Bach, and, after an encore, Mrs. Gavin sang the "Spring Song" by Denza. "La Halarera," from the opera "Carmen," with orchestra accompaniment, was her second number, and she responded to an encore with a simple folk ballad.

Mrs. Gavin will be at Winona Lake with the Rogers' band through July 4.

Miss Kate Leebrick, of Pawnee, Oklahoma, is visiting her brother, C. W. Leebrick. Miss Leebrick is a missionary to the Pawnee Indians.

lectures for 1907 at the School of Missions, and she has accepted the invitation.

The text book for next year is by Anna Robertson Brown Lindsay, of Philadelphia, and is entitled "Christus Victor," being a survey of progress of the last one hundred years of the educational, medical, evangelical and industrial missions.

Mrs. Lindsey is the author of a popular series of books called "What Is Worth While," and her last book, "Christus Victor," is anxiously awaited.

This is to be the seventh of this series of missionary studies the first being a survey of the field, then followed text books on India, China, Japan, Africa and Islands of the Pacific, the last being Mrs. Montgomery's text book.

Five Per Cent. GOLD BONDS

Of the Winona Interurban Railway Co.

Nine months ago we offered to the friends of Winona the bonds of the Warsaw-Goshen Division of the Winona Interurban System, and every available bond has been disposed of, the division is built and in operation. To build the division from Warsaw to Peru, Ind., a distance of 42 miles, the Company now offers Five Per Cent Gold Bonds, interest payable March 31 and September 1, in denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100. The stock of the Company belongs in its entirety to Winona Assembly, being held in trust for it by the board of directors. By the purchase of an old right-of-way of the Wabash railroad only 33 miles of the Peru Division will have to be constructed. The power house, costing $300,000, is already built at Winona Lake. The whole system from Goshen to Peru, over 70 miles, is to have the best equipment for passenger and freight service, and will give direct trolley connection with cities of Northern Indiana, Southern Michigan, the Wabash Valley, the Indiana Gas Belt, Indianapolis and Central Indiana.

The bonds of the Peru Division contain none of the elements of speculation or "frenzied finance." They are safe and sound for investors of small means, or large. It is expected that these bonds will find as ready sale as those of the Goshen-Warsaw Division.

Full particulars relative to the bonds will be sent on request.
